Bayonets Clear Streets

SANTO DOMINGO (AP)—Troops moved with fixed bayonets into Santo Domingo's streets Monday in an attempt to crush the mounting disorder threatening the Dominican Republic's three-man civilian regime.

The government gave orders to a mixed force of 2,000 army, navy, air force and police troops "to proceed with extreme energy" after fighting between police and rioters had erupted in the city.

HURLED ROCKS

The rioters hurled rocks, with police responding with barrages of tear gas shells. But no sooner was one crowd scattered than another formed to start another demonstration.

Dockworkers walked off the job to join university students in support of a three-day strike by taxi and bus drivers. The government warned it considered the strike illegal and would impose strict measures to end it.

MAP ACTION

During the day the civilian triumvirate met with the armed forces' chiefs of staff to map action against the growing wave of anti-government disturbances.

Violence broke out in Santo Domingo's workers' quarters and a policeman shot to death a worker who attacked him with a knife. It was the first fatality reported. At least 20 persons were wounded and 150 persons arrested in rioting Sunday.

The Federation of University Students issued a communique declaring it was joining "the working class, which has taken the lead in seeking a return to constitutionality."

ASK PRESIDENT'S RETURN

The students called for the return of President Juan Bosch, who was ousted by military leaders last Sept. 25 on charges of being soft against Communists. Later, the military turned control of the government to a three-man civilian junta.

From his place of exile in Puerto Rico Bosch told a reporter that Dominicans were "very much disgusted with the chaos and injustice which has followed the military coup which ousted my government."

CIVIL WAR

His Dominican Revolutionary Party issued a manifesto here saying the country faced the choice of "return to constitutionality or national disaster." It warned that civil war could break out unless democratic institutions were restored and "the dangerous schism" in the armed forces closed.

Castro Loses Latest Red Radar

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Soviet Union has removed from Cuba a highly sophisticated new radar system that probably added to the effectiveness of Fidel Castro's anti-aircraft missiles, it was learned Monday night.

LBJ Pulls Ears Again

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Johnson went for those bungle ears again Monday, but all he got was a wag of the tail, no yelps.

The president was out for another of his talk-and-stroll tours of the White House south lawn with newsmen when Jim and Her, the family beagle, bounded out to meet him.

Johnson reached down and gently tugged at Jim's ears. He did it deliberately, he said, to show that he was not hurting the dog but merely being affectionate.

Anderson: 'I let magistrate down'

Amputee Agrees with Magistrate:

'No Better Than Rubbish'

VANCOUVER (CP)—Legless Carl Anderson thinks perhaps his old friend Magistrate Les Bewley was right when he said he should be picked up and put in a garbage can.

"Mr. Bewley is right," said the man who lost both legs below the knees in a plane crash near Uranium City, Sask.

"Sometimes I think I am no better than rubbish."

ONE-DAY TERM

Anderson, who walks on two rubber boots attached to the stumps of his legs, was interviewed Sunday as he sat in the sun on the steps of a skid road mission only a short time after he finished a one-day jail term for drunkenness.

BECOMING NUISANCE

Magistrate Bewley told him Saturday morning: "You are becoming a nuisance. In the past year you have had eight drunk convictions."

"You would be better off if police picked you up and put you in a garbage can."

GIVEN WARNING

The magistrate sentenced Anderson, 73, to a day and warned him that a longer term could follow the next conviction.

Magistrate Bewley said in an interview later: "Carl and I are old friends and we have spoken some truths to each other for a good number of years."

BETTER REASON

"Because of his condition Carl has a better reason than most people for getting drunk, but he has proved a nuisance to persons on the street."

He said he was saying in his court remarks that instead of continually arresting Anderson it might be better to bodily remove him "to a place where he could sober up."

GOING DOWNHILL

Anderson said he has been going downhill since he was in a crash while prospecting around Uranium City in 1953. He spent four days and nights in freezing weather before being rescued. Both legs and all his fingers were amputated because of frostbite.

"I have not been much use to anyone since then."

He described Magistrate Bewley as a "good man."

"Always he has been kind to me. He has given me chances and I have let him down. I do not wonder he is fed up with me."

"I did not mind him bringing the ash can into it. There are times I feel the same way. I know that some people don't like the things he says but it needs something like that to hit home."

Five Sailors Killed, Strayed into Minefield

WASHINGTON (AP)—Five U.S. Navy men were killed at the Guantanamo naval base in Cuba Saturday after they walked into a U.S. minefield, the navy announced Monday.

The navy said it is possible that the men, who had swimming trunks and bathing towels, may have become lost in the darkness "and strayed into the well-marked restricted area."

Canada's CF-104 Jets Pile Up Repair Costs

OTTAWA (CP)—The RCAF is having more trouble with its CF-104 low-level jet bomber in Europe.

This time it's with the navigation system. Associate Defence Minister Cardin informed the Commons April 8 that repairs to the LN-3 navigation system in the CF-104 will cost up to $6,000,000 in this fiscal year alone.

LARGE FRACTION

The repair costs represent a fairly large fraction of the original cost of the LN-3, manufactured by Litton Systems Inc. of California which has a subsidiary, Litton Systems (Canada) Ltd., at Rexdale, Ont.

The defence production department declined to give the original contract price for the LN-3 but the public accounts for the years 1959 to 1963 show contracts with Litton totalling about $34,000,000. The govern-

Tariff Talks

'WILL' POWER NEEDED

Canada's Sharp

GENEVA (CP)—Trade Minister Sharp of Canada joined representatives of the other major trading nations Monday in appealing for a display of "political will" to achieve success in the Kennedy round of tariff-cutting negotiations despite current disagreement over negotiating rules.

Sharp told the formal opening of the negotiations—expected to last 18 months or more—that Canada intends to bargain actively for both agricultural and industrial concessions in export markets and is ready to "pay fully" for such benefits.

Canada is participating in the negotiations as a member of the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade.

SET STAGE

The late U.S. president John Kennedy set the stage for the round by pushing through the United States Congress the Trade Expansion Act of 1980 which gave him the right to cut U.S. tariffs by as much as 50 per cent in exchange for reciprocal concessions.

WILL SEEK CHANGE

In closed ministerial sessions today, Canada was expected to press forcibly for an end to the European Common Market's reluctance to reduce its agricultural protectionism.

Sources said Canada, while not blind to the political and social difficulties of such a step

Wait Till Fall New Banks Told

VANCOUVER (CP)—Finance Minister Gordon indicated Monday that three proposed banks must wait until fall for their federal charters.

He said in an interview that the government hopes to amend the Bank Act in the fall after studying the recently-released report of the Royal Commission on Banking.

"It is not very likely new charters will be granted before the act is revised."

Charter applications have been made by the proposed banks of Western Canada, British Columbia and Laurende.

"Last time I talked to Premier Bennett about the bank he said there was so much enthusiasm and support for it in B.C. that it could easily be financed even if the government didn't put any money into it."

The recent session of the legislature passed a bill that permits the government to purchase up to 25 per cent of the capital of the proposed bank.

Ship Hits Barge Near Mobile

MOBILE, Ala. (UPI)—The U.S. Coast Guard said a motor-powered vessel, the Prospector, and a gasoline barge collided in Mobile Harbor early today and burst into flames. The coast guard at Mobile reported it was sending rescue craft to the scene near the mouth of the Mobile River.

Bennett:

Don't
B.C.

By TERRY HAMMOND
Colonist Legislative Reporter

B.C. will brook no stalling in its bid to get a federal charter for the proposed Bank of British Columbia, Premier Bennett indicated yesterday.

Told that federal Finance Minister Walter Gordon had said earlier in the day in Vancouver that it could be fall before a private bill seeking a bank charter would go before the House of Commons, the premier said, "that would disappoint me greatly."

"There is no real reason for any postponement," he told reporters.

He said the Bank of B.C. could be chartered soon and conform to the Bank Act as it now reads. When changes in the act are enacted the bank would conform with those.

WITH DISFAVOR

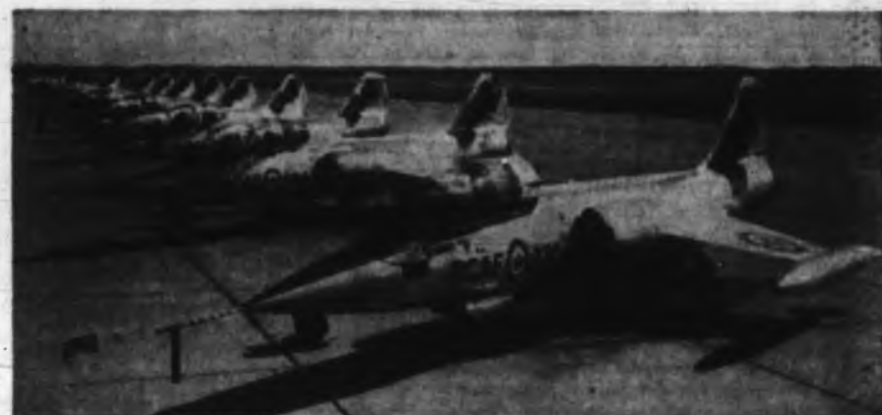

"Any postponement would be looked on with disfavor by the people of British Columbia," he added.

B.C.'s economy would be stimulated by early approval of the bank bill.

The premier also denied he had told Mr. Gordon earlier that investor interest in the bank was so high B.C. might not have to become a shareholder.

SHARE CAPITAL

navigation and the first one produced by Litton.

"It has not been without its problems," the spokesman said. "These in the main have come to light as operational hours on the CF-104 have accumulated and for the most part have been concerned with the gyro and platform components of the system."

PRODUCT IMPROVEMENT

A product improvement program was undertaken on the system, a not unusual arrangement for sophisticated equipment, to which the company contributed."

The spokesman said the LM-3 was developed originally for the United States armed forces in the late 1950s and was the only system of its kind available to the RCAF for the CF-104.

Mr. Cardin said the repair costs in the system were "unforeseen."

The first CF-104 which reached Europe in late 1963 required some 40 modifications before they could be put into service. The planes had to be pulled apart and re-assembled at a cost of $285,000.

At least 12 CF-104s have been destroyed in crashes and six pilots have been killed. The latest crash was at Zweibrücken, West Germany, Friday. The pilot escaped.

Navy Ship's Ensigns Laid Up on Sunday

White ensigns from HMCS Cape Breton, which was paid off last February and is now in the reserve fleet, will be ceremonially laid up at Christ Church Cathedral and St. Andrew's Cathedral Sunday morning.

The laying-up ceremony is one of ancient tradition which involves the depositing of the ensign as a memorial to all who served under it.

The last time such a ceremony was carried out in Victoria was in 1961, to mark the visit of HMS Belfast.

The two ensigns, each attended by a color guard, will be paraded past Lieutenant Governor Pearkes, with the Naden band in attendance.

He will take the salute in front of the Armed Forces Recruiting Centre at Yates and Quadra at 10:45 a.m.

The parade will leave Bastion Square at 10:35 and travel along Yates, Cook, Fort and Quadra, where it will divide, with one ensign going to St. Andrew's and the other to Christ Church.

DeMolay Officers

To be installed Saturday, when Victoria Chapter, Order of DeMolay marks its 10th anniversary, are, top to bottom, James Fyfe, master counsellor; John Hilliard, senior counsellor; Christine Smith, chapter sweetheart; and Greg McKintyre, junior counsellor. Ceremony will be in First United Church hall. (Bud Kinsman.)

'Will Power'

by the Common Market, feels nevertheless that agriculture must be included in the negotiations to achieve the GATT objective of trade reciprocity.

This has been a major stumbling block in last year's technical talks aimed at writing ground rules for the negotiations, which affect 80 per cent of the world's trade and could lead to the biggest tariff cuts in the post-Second World War period.

SEEKING CLASH

Meanwhile, the Common Market confirmed in Monday's formal sessions that it will in fact seek the 50-per-cent slash in tariffs that the U.S. is authorized to negotiate.

Until now this 50-per-cent had been accepted only as a working hypothesis for the GATT committee that has been debating the working rules.

Originally it had been intended to work out these rules by next fall, then begin the hard bargaining.

REALISTIC

But Common Market commissioner Jean Rey said Monday the Common Market—West Germany, France, Italy, The Netherlands, Belgium and Luxembourg—believes it would be more realistic to use the rest of this year for preparatory work, bargaining in the first half of 1965.

This came as no surprise to the Canadian delegation which viewed the proposal as being closely tied to the U.S. presidential elections in the fall.

Christian Herter, the U.S. trade representative, called for effective efforts to settle the remaining issues quickly. He said the longer the rules are left open, "the more we risk the success of the entire trade negotiations."

Herter read a pledge from President Johnson of U.S. help in bringing the talks to a fruitful conclusion.

Britain's trade minister, Edward Heath, said his country is willing to negotiate the 50-per-cent tariff cut with a minimum of exceptions.

JAPAN'S VIEW

Britain also would join in working out suitable arrangements for expansion of world trade in agricultural products and to reduce barriers to the exports of developed countries.

Japan's minister of economic planning, Rishi Miyazawa, told the initial session that unless the widespread trade discrimination against Japan was ended

John Duchêne is a high school teacher, living in Windsor, Ontario. He and his wife, Judith, have two children—Christopher, 3, and Juliana, 18 months. Like all young fathers, John likes to think that he will always be around to provide his family with the first three necessities—food, clothing and shelter.

But John, concerned for the future, has recognized that, in addition to the first three necessities, there is a Fourth Necessity—enough life insurance.

John budgets $28.50 a month for life insurance premiums. Should he die, his family would receive $8,000 in cash—enough for final expenses and to pay off the mortgage—plus a steady monthly income until the youngest child is 17 years old. But John, of

Botulism Poisoning Rare—Except in Home Canning

By JOSEPH MOLNER, MD

Dear Dr. Molner: I have some cans of tuna, crabmeat and salmon which have been on the shelves for perhaps four years. Is it safe to use them?—B.B.

I suppose since these are sea foods, you are concerned mainly over botulism, the Type E botulism that has had so much publicity in the last year.

Canned food (commercially canned, I mean) has not been found responsible for botulism deaths in a quarter of a century. Home-canned food, however, averages several deaths a year from this, evidently when the rare occurrence of presence of the botulism organism plus insufficient cooking takes place.

RAKE CAUSE

Botulism is still a very rare cause of poisoning. Far more deaths result from taking baths, being stung by insects, tripping over curbstones or smoking in bed.

Of course there are less deadly but more common forms of food poisoning. These, too, are rare in either commercially or home-canned food. With reasonable caution, I don't think you need fear any of them.

Tanner's "Microbiology of Foods" advises that if all microorganisms (in a syllable, germs!) in a can of food are destroyed, and the ingress of others is prevented, canned foods should keep indefinitely.

Canned food (vegetable, fish, meat or mixtures) is cooked under rigid specifications which destroy such germs. Only when a rare and unpredictable accident occurs do we ever find any germs that can multiply, once the cooking stage is past.

Can anything ever get in? Yes, if there is a hole—and it need be only a small one.

I've consulted a number of doctors and nutritionists about today's letter, and the answers vary between "throw it out" and "it's perfectly safe."

CUT!—OR COOK

If the can has bulged, is rusty, has leaked, smells peculiar, throw it out.

If you hear a hiss of escaping pressure, throw it out. (Do not confuse this with an inward hiss when something has been vacuum-packed.)

If the color or texture of the product is strange, discard it.

If you are still worried in spite of food passing all these tests, re-cooking will destroy any new germs.

Dear Dr. Molner: Everytime I've had a urinalysis, I've been told to bring in the first specimen of the day. Last week I had a physical but the specimen was not taken under the circumstances you mentioned as dependable. Should I have another?—MRS. K.

I don't think so, since you've found the other tests to be free of sugar. The first-in-the-morning specimen gives much information, but specimens at other times in the day will give a clue if anything is far out of line, especially sugar.

Dear Dr. Molner: I have been a fairly heavy smoker since I was 14. I am now 33. I have read so much about cancer that I would like to know what my chances are of avoiding it if I stop now.—A. F.

They will be a lot better if you stop now. You will have a much better chance of avoiding heart trouble or lung troubles, too.

Dear Dr. Molner: Our Grade class would like to know if it is true that eating the apple core could cause appendicitis?—ROOM 31 (47 SIGNATURES)

No, it won't cause appendicitis. A seed, if it happened to lodge in the appendix, could cause irritation but even this is very unusual. So go ahead and give teacher an apple. And have one yourself.

NOTE TO MRS. H.Z.A.: No, you will not be harmed, but it DOES take patience and continued effort for many couples to achieve sexual satisfaction simultaneously.

Golden Samarkand

Red Blasts Draining Threat to Old City

MOSCOW (UPI) — Soviet engineers yesterday detonated a third powerful explosion which they said would make it possible to drain off in 48 hours a bulging mountain lake which once threatened the "golden city" of Samarkand.

The Soviet news agency Tass said a quickly built canal, already 50 feet deep, would be commissioned tomorrow.

Through this passage, the scientists said, about 20,000,000 cubic meters of water will be drained off under controlled conditions, averting potentially disastrous floods which they first thought could inundate the 2,500-year-old city of Samarkand.

The danger struck suddenly

April 24 when a huge mountain landslide crashed into the central Asian, River Zeravshan, completely blocking it.

Already 50,000,000 cubic meters of water have welled up behind this natural dam of loose, clay material, according to Tass, and scientists calculated that it would only take a few more days before it would spill over and pour down the valley wreaking havoc.

A nation-wide rescue program was organized within days and men, equipment and supplies were rushed to the disaster area high up in the Tadjikistan mountains.

U.S. — Cuba Crisis?

Rocket Threat Keeps Administration on Edge

By HAROLD MORRISON
Canadian Press

Various authoritative hints seem to indicate the U.S. administration is planning some new action in connection with Cuba, perhaps in the form of support for Cuban exiles. These exiles may be planning to resume harassment tactics or make an actual landing on Cuban soil.

The U.S. administration seeks to retain an appearance of tranquillity. All reports of unusual aircraft and troop movements in southern regions have been denied—just as they were denied prior to the 1961 and 1962 crises. There even were some official suggestions that Cuba isn't much of a threat after all because the Russians had withdrawn the most powerful of their surface-to-air rockets.

Now the officials have done an about-face, denying the reports widely distributed in the U.S. that any of the Soviet rockets had been withdrawn. An authoritative source, whose reports proved accurate during the 1962 missile crisis, said the rockets in Cuba are of top quality and capable of hitting a high-flying U-2 reconnaissance plane.

Premier Fidel Castro has threatened to destroy these American aircraft if they continue to fly over Cuban soil and President Johnson has warned that any such Cuban action would bring serious consequences, presumably U.S. military retaliation. The informant said it was in connection with the president's remarks that U.S. forces in Florida have been strengthened.

But there appears to be more to American planning than the possibility of a plane incident. Cuban exiles who survived the 1961 Bay of Pigs fiasco are reported to have resumed recruiting in the Florida area for military forces being trained in some Central American hide-out.

Ocean Wealth

A BILL NOW before the Senate would have the effect of extending from the present three miles to 12 the limits along Canada's coasts within which it would claim exclusive fishing rights. This revision would also widen in many places the waters claimed as Canadian territory, for the three-mile territorial seas would be measured from baselines extending from headland to headland, instead of from the winding shore as now.

It is interesting to note that this latter effect of the proposed legislation might in due course have an important bearing on industry other than fishing: industry that could, indeed, tempt not only Canada but other countries too to seek to extend their sovereignty still farther out to sea.

Oil exploration of course is already in progress in the territorial waters of the British Columbia coast. But Dr. Bernard Smith, chief engineer with the U.S. Bureau of Naval Weapons, suggests that there is much additional treasure to be gleaned in future from the ocean and its floor.

In an article in Sallyport, a publication of Reed College in Portland, Dr. Smith foresees the ocean-bottom mining of numerous minerals: "The small scratchings already made reveal workable deposits of many important minerals near our continental shores. John L. Metro of the Institute of Marine Resources, University of California, has concluded that mineral nodules lying loosely on the ocean floor are a cheaper source of manganese, nickel, cobalt and copper than many land deposits presently being worked. Such nodules, he suggests, can be mined with hydraulic dredges that work like giant vacuum cleaners."

"It is entirely possible that ore-trains of the future may be pulled up from the sea bottom to coastal refineries by bottom-crawling locomotives. This method may turn out to be cheaper and more reliable than raising the materials to floating barges."

The obstacles to exploration and development of this nature, Dr. Smith suggests, are as deserving of attention as the problems of man's venturing into space.

But he foresees—and this is where territorial limits come in—some prospect of international conflict as more ore of great commercial value is discovered on the ocean bottom. The first nation occupying a piece of the sea floor by virtue of anything resembling a fixed installation may have a territorial right to it, he suggests.

It seems hardly likely, though, that the United States for instance would welcome the Soviet flag being figuratively implanted on a rich resource of a dozen miles off the American coast. It may be that Dr. Smith's own nation will not be the last to see virtue in territorial limits extending still farther out into the ocean than they do now.

A Unity Train

THE CENTENNIAL commissioner, Mr. John Fisher, in speaking to an Ontario service club, appealed for additional ideas for the Confederation Train which will tour the country in 1967 as a feature of the national centenary of that year. One imagines that Mr. Fisher himself, a publicist of note on the Canadian ethos, has plenty of ideas on the subject, but he does well to draw attention to this particular centennial project.

The Confederation Train was a proposal of Mr. Diefenbaker, designed to imbue Canadians with the scale and values of their heritage by displaying historic exhibits and items that tell the story of Canada and the folklore of the country. Canada no less than its neighbor across the line has its legendary characters and notable incidents to exploit, even if the latter spreads its patina across North America to the detriment of Canadian folklore.

It is to be hoped Victoria is not bypassed because this city is on an island and that arrangements will be made in ample time for conveyance of the train by car ferry to the B.C. capital. This is one feature of the confederation centennial that should do much to imbue pride of country and renew the faith and unity necessary for the future weal of Canada. By 1967 perhaps the current unrest and B-and-B schisms may have been subdued to ensure the confederation taking a fresh lease of life as it enters upon its second century.

In this connection the prime minister has spoken again on the need for all Canadians to accept the bi-cultural, bilingual character of the nation and work together in unison and good will. He deplored the noisy minority of separatists and extremists who threaten national unity, but he did not name them. Better had Mr. Pearson cited the Quebec faction he must have had in mind, for no other section of the country is bent on disrupting the unity of confederation.

The latter may be expected to receive the Confederation Train with enthusiasm and appropriate interest, and it is to be hoped it arouses equal patriotic sentiment in Quebec as symbolic of the nation as a whole.

Trouble Brewing?

DESPITE OUR southern neighbors' preoccupation with problems of racial discrimination these days, new facts and fancies persist in cropping up inadvertently and otherwise to confuse the already chaotic situation.

For instance, a recent report published by Dr. Milton Silverman, director of California's state medical research agency, may unintentionally have opened up a completely new area for exploitation by those who remain convinced that certain ethnic groups in the United States enjoy a marked superiority over others.

Dr. Silverman's report purports that the ability of a man to hold his liquor depends solely on his racial origin. "The people who can't handle drink," he says, "are Scandinavians, Northern Frenchmen, Northern Russians and the Irish."

"The English and the Scots? Their record is pretty good—somewhere in the middle. In general, the further north you go the worse the situation is. People of Scandinavian and Irish descent have the worst record of alcoholism in America."

To publicize such findings marks Dr. Silverman as a dedicated scientist. A brave one, too.

SOME news items that intrigued my fancy the other day. Beginning with the blood royal, let's do.

A baby was "safely delivered" as palace protocol describes it, and the happy father exclaimed: "It's marvelous news."

Now really, Tony, haven't you ever noted how the Oxford defines "marvelous"? To wit: something "astonishing"; or "extravagantly improbable." Which hardly seems to suit the occasion.

Much more appropriate, and natural too, was his addition, however: "She looks a super baby."

That's how all babies look and how all fathers should feel.

Time magazine has an apt quotation from Hans Christian Andersen, whose sea maiden, The Little Mermaid, sits on a rock outside the harbor of Copenhagen.

A sculptor gave her form and she has been the pride of Denmark, and tourists galore whose cameras capture her on film, for half a century.

And whom a few weeks ago someone decapitated and thus made countless others mourn.

But the mold was preserved and she will have her head back again. In any case, says the Time, the Sea King's daughter is immortal, a creature of foam and sky, and if tears were to be shed they should be for the vandals or, as Hans Andersen put it, for the "naughty child."

As well however as a few salutary strokes of the paddle.

On the prairies, where the amalgam of Canadianism is amply reflected, there's only one tongue for Canada—the English language.

According to a CP report of a B-and-B commission meeting there opinion seems general that by its self-isolation as a French-speaking "state" Quebec has brought its troubles on itself.

If you stay out of the mainstream of national thought and practice, as it were, you are bound to suffer.

There was point, for example, in one young man's belief that it's "socially ridiculous" to maintain Quebec as a linguistic entity in a North American complex of 200 million people who speak English.

And in the reminder that when French-Canadians move to live in the United States, they conform by learning the national tongue. Their fortunes would obviously be amiss if they didn't.

Perhaps the most potent comment was by a German immigrant who declared "Let the French learn English. They're in the minority and it won't do them any harm."

This is probably too much to expect, or even demand, but it would be patently absurd to have Canadians turn themselves into Canadians.

English is paramount for the destiny of Canada, and if the sons of Quebec don't come to recognize this their future will always be at a discount.

Finally, a quote from our sports editor's column: "Space age or not, a boy's idea of fun is still doing what comes naturally. The most neglected expression on the playground today is 'let's choose up sides.' Strict supervision or regimentation during leisure hours is an infringement on a boy's God-given right to explore the pleasures of being young. You cannot legislate fun."

In substance, youthful sport is being over-organized.

Ottawa Offbeat

HER MAJESTY'S Loyal Opposition in the Commons has been had. Ambushed, conned, trapped, just plain outfoxed.

The honorable members on the Progressive Conservative New Democratic Social Credit Ralliement des Creditistes benches have had their political teeth pulled just as surely as Samson lost his hair.

Those were the teeth that they so often, with such relish and malice aforethought, sunk into the tender hides of the cabinet ministers in the snarling, snapping and biting match that used to enliven the Commons daily for its opening hour or 90 minutes.

For some strange reason that defies all understanding, the once wildcats of the Opposition have agreed, for a "trial" six weeks, to become tame pussies.

They have traded in the good, hard stool club of the question period with which they so painfully thumped the government for a gentle willow wand of "pocket debates."

In the question period, they did their stuff each day when the Commons opened, and the galleries were full of the silently cheering spectators, and the cabinet was sitting there like so many ducks in the line of hot inquisitorial fire.

The question period was the capital's leading spectator sport, enjoyed by both the hometown crowds and the tourists.

The "pocket debates" come on at the tag end of day, after 10 o'clock at night, when the tired Commons is ready to pack it up until the morrow, and the galleries have emptied of spectators driven out by the drone of the day's discussions.

Even the cabinet, mostly, has called it a day, and left the field of battle to the second stringers, the parliamentary secretaries.

After 10 o'clock at night, except on the budget or other infrequent so-called "Great Debates," who's listening? Not many.

It used to be—ever since the discovery eight years ago in the '56 political explosions of the pipeline that governments could be destroyed right there on the floor of the Commons—that the question period was one of the more important instruments of destruction.

The Conservatives used it to blow up the Liberals in 1957, the Liberals employed it to torpedo the Conservatives in '62 and '63, and the Conservatives have been busy ever since trying to work up a blitzing of the Liberals.

For eight years, first the Conservatives, then the Liberals, and again the Conservatives in Opposition used the question period to expatriate and pillory the cabinet.

It worked destructive wonders, every day, inexorably frustrating the government into increasingly impotent fury.

It built up anger and resentment in the cabinet and tore down resilience and resistance of its ministers.

Like the Chinese torture treatment, it brought them, slowly and painfully closer and closer to the breaking point.

Each official Opposition in its day had the usual—but not always—eager and happy cooperation of the "splinter" groups.

Back in '56, former CCF leader M. J. Coldwell and old socialist veteran Stanley Knowles did as much, and sometimes more than John Diefenbaker, Donald Fleming or Dave Fulton to end the 22-year-long political day of Louis St. Laurent, Jack Pickersgill, C. D. Howe and Company.

And last session, the same Stanley Knowles, aided and abetted by the Lakehead's Douglas Fisher and Vancouver Island's Colin Cameron of the New Democrats, gave John Diefenbaker, Walter Menzies, Gordon Churchill and Company all kinds of valuable help in laying the lash on the Liberals.

Call it "obstruction," or call it what it really is, Opposition—but the Conservatives, in bitter memory, were, and have been only doing to the Liberals what the Liberals did to them.

Then suddenly, voluntarily, although now with belated if increasing reluctance, they gave it up.

They all but swore off the strong stuff of Opposition.

They agreed to let Mr. Speaker rule their questions out of order, and what's more, make his rulings stick.

Meekly, they promised to keep their questions short, ask nothing of "urgent public importance," and generally simmer down into model and well-

A Straitjacket of Status

AMERICAN education is involved in all sorts of excitements, many of them more destructive than instructive. There are the civil rights boycotts, the segregationist school closures, the integrationist school pressures and their police-dog, mob-mother and over-excited-children effects.

There are the Birchers on school boards. Wherever they get themselves elected there is excitement that has nothing to do with education and has no interest whatever in children. And they have won places from California to Nantucket Island where they are raising Cain just now.

There are political excitements in local situations that stem from corruption, investigations of corruption, local political faction feuds, old scores, personal vendettas and sheer pelting stupidity and ignorance empowered.

"God Save America" we sing and we ought to add "from a high proportion of its school boards." The victims are children, some of them trying to get an education. Because of an old feud on Nantucket Island in which the Birchers are taking a hand, grades have dropped so low that the (Bircher-dominated) school board has refused to reveal the extent of the drop in student performance. Teachers are menaced, the school superintendent is illegally fired and the island is involved in what has been called locally "a little civil war."

The passions of these school board faction fights are lustrous.

Khrushchev and Mao

Obstinate Men

By MAO DEUTSCHER
(Second of Two Parts)

MR. KHRUSHCHEV has had to reassure his critics and allay misgivings about his Chinese policy. He has denied any intention of "expelling China from the socialist camp" and of rescinding the Soviet-Chinese alliance. He has pledged himself to go on treating China "as a socialist state" even after a formal excommunication of Maoism; and "to work for an improvement of inter-state relations" even after the rupture of the inter-party connection.

At the same time, however, Mr. Khrushchev is still bent on preparing the ground for an international conference and an excommunication. He has therefore raised a new alarm about the "ideological dangers" of Maoism, and he reproached those foreign Communists with underrating or neglecting those dangers. He has launched a personal attack on Mao/Tse-tung which surpasses all previous attacks in vehemence.

Mao (as Moscow's propagandists now say) is China's Stalin. He is indulging in a cult of his own personality. He is committing the errors and crimes Stalin had committed. And he must be exposed and discredited just as Stalin has been.

Here is a list of "Mao's offences and crimes" which Moscow is now circulating among the Communist parties the world over:

1. The Peking authorities are discouraging the study of the works of Marx, Engels, and Lenin in order to create an unrivalled authority for Mao. "Lenin's works are published in China in so small, negligible editions that to the average Chinese they are as inaccessible as if they were suppressed."

2. "The worshipful attitude" towards Mao has assumed forms as grotesque as the Stalin cult had at its height. The Chinese people now have to thank Mao for the food they get, for their children's good health, and for every success in life."

3. "Like Stalin, Mao is exercising autocratic power. He is disregarding the Chinese constitution and the statutes of his own party. It is nearly eight years now since the Chinese Communist party held its last Congress." (Under its statutes the party is obliged to hold a Congress at least once in five years.)

4. Consequently, most of the policy changes decreed by Mao in recent years have been unconstitutional and illegal. The decision to set up rural communes and to initiate the Great Leap in industry, the subsequent decision to stop the Great Leap and to call a halt to industrialization, and the fateful moves leading to China's estrangement from the Soviet Union—all these turns of policy have been made without the sanction of any party Congress.

(These charges have, in milder forms, been made also by Mr. Khrushchev himself at a recent meeting of Soviet-Polish Friendship in the Kremlin; and they have appeared in an article in Party Life, a periodical of the Soviet central committee.)

These accusations culminate in a full scale attack on the "Khrushchev system" that is on "broad waters" and on the "system of legalized spying and informing" which covers "every cell of the Chinese party."

Mao's regime is further criticized for its morbid secretiveness, the unlimited power it accords to the hierarchy of party secretaries, the inflated bureaucratic staffs it maintains, and the military discipline it imposes on the rank and file.

What is new about these attacks, apart from their vehemence, is that they are directed against vulnerable domestic aspects of the Maoist regime. All pretence of "non-interference in each other's internal affairs" has been abandoned.

Moscow may be playing with fire, for some of these attacks may well rebound on its own methods of government and its own bureaucracy. Peking is certain to retaliate and to step up its own attacks in the coming weeks and months.

For the first time in all their history the regimes of the U.S.S.R. and China are thus going to find themselves under the pressure of mutual criticism—and the weapons of Communist criticism are likely to be far more effective, and quite differently effective, than are any attacks coming from the bourgeois world, through any Voice of America or any Radio Free Europe.

This new series of polemical exchanges must give rise to new political ferment in the U.S.S.R. and in China. In both countries people are bound to wonder whether the fateful conflict is not being needlessly exacerbated by two septuagenarian leaders, both rigid in their views and obstinate in their ways.

Would younger men, free from fixed ideas and accumulated resentments, not be able to mend the relations between the two great Communist powers?

Moscow and Peking have other problems of succession to solve. In both capitals party congresses are overdue and may well be convened for the autumn; and both congresses will be overshadowed by the Great Conflict and the double succession.

Ivy League, the only way to make your school bigger was to make your teachers write in the hope that one of them might turn out to be big. This hope has cluttered the book market with dreary works of mechanical "scholarship" and the faculties with little academic bores who would have been happier men and better teachers if they had been allowed to teach harder and forget about prestige.

Sayre's fight is an important one. In effect it is a demand that the universities answer the question: What do you want of your teachers? Good teaching or prestige publication? Is the first study of the university to the quality of education it offers to its students, or to the status of the institution as an institution?

I have always thought teaching to be an honorable and exacting employment. I have known some quite magnificent teachers who were incapable of organizing or writing a book. My first history professor, at Queens University in Belfast, was the most exciting historian I had or have ever known. He made history a passion for his students. He was teaching Toynbee's view of history before Toynbee put pen to paper—and teaching us also to be skeptical of theories of history. His name meant nothing to anybody outside his lecture theatre or his home. But for us who sat under him our past and our present became one—and remained one.

The Americans are very German in some of their ways. I once interrogated an East German escapee who was suspected of being an agent. He was very proud of his doctorate. It was, if I recall correctly, a doctorate in hotel management.

Maybe one of these days men like Sayre will liberate—or begin the liberation of—higher education from its status straitjacket. Then there'll be a lot of real excitement in the mind.

Flood Victims Calm Down

Bennett Telegraphs Ottawa For Alberni Flood Aid

Premier Bennett has formally telegraphed Prime Minister Pearson inviting federal participation in providing aid for B.C.'s Good Friday tidal wave victims.

He told reporters yesterday he had not asked for any specific sum but had proposed a formula for federal aid.

B.C. authorities are awaiting an independent appraisal of tidal wave damage which has been estimated at $5,000,000 to $6,000,000.

In Edmonton, Provincial Secretary Black said the appraisers' report is expected this week or early next week.

He was there for a one-day national survival conference.

In Nanaimo, Mayor Pete Maffeo called a meeting of the Association of Vancouver Island Municipalities' disaster fund committee for the Nanaimo city hall at 8 p.m. Friday.

By MARGARET TREBETT

ALBERNI — Federal aid for tidal wave victims will be forthcoming without delay as soon as B.C. says it is needed, Resources Minister Arthur Laing told an orderly, placard-packing crowd of about 100 people Sunday.

(B.C. took such action yesterday — see adjacent story.) The crowd gathered on a parking lot in the middle of the devastated area near the Somass River to await the arrival of Mr. Laing, who was touring the area with disaster fund committee members and representatives of Twin Cities councils.

WHAT FOR ALBERNI?

Their placards read When? What? Are we Canadians or just British Columbians? $5,000,000 for Alaska without appraisal. What for Alberni? Mr. Laing indicated he believes the provincial cabinet may decide at a meeting today how much federal assistance will be necessary for the compensation of householders and businesses which suffered damage in the tidal wave March 28.

Te complaints that Ottawa has delayed in declaring a national disaster, Mr. Laing explained the federal government is undecided about this because it must wait for B.C. to say the disaster was so big B.C. could not handle it on its own.

ALSO WARNED

"I assure you that there is no lack of co-operation between the federal and provincial governments," he declared.

Mr. Laing was introduced to Mrs. Gordon Rowland, who had been instrumental in organizing the protest group.

Surrounded by the placard-carrying crowd, Mrs. Rowland explained quietly the hardships of the people whose homes and household effects had been damaged.

She agreed Mr. Laing was not to blame for the delay. "We just can't wait much longer," she said.

'Hard Hat' Eases Injury

A newly purchased plastic crash helmet may have saved Richard O'Grady, 2, of 4450 Windsor, from more serious injury after he collided with a car at St. Patrick and Brighton yesterday.

Police said the youngster struck the fender of the car and was thrown over the bonnet into the windshield. He was admitted to Royal Jubilee Hospital with concussion and was in satisfactory condition last night.

Police said the boy was wearing his helmet when the crash occurred. Driver of the car was Adrian Haas, 1785 Emerson. Richard is the son of Mr. and Mrs. T. P. O'Grady.

Lansdowne Area

Rezoning Eyed by Saanich

Saanich council will ask Oak Bay not to rezone part of the University of Victoria Lansdowne campus for apartments until Saanich can investigate the effects of such rezoning on nearby Saanich property.

Saanich council last night voted to have its lands and planning committee investigate the proposed rezoning after receiving letters from two owners of Saanich property in the Lansdowne area near the Oak Bay border.

One letter asked Saanich to approach Oak Bay seeking a guarantee against adverse effects from the proposed rezoning and the other, a copy of a letter to Oak Bay council, opposed the rezoning proposal.

Council gave first readings bylaws setting the 1964 Saanich general tax rate at 27.9 mills. This means Saanich ratepayers will pay total general and school taxes of 48.29 mills in the Greater Victoria school district and 49.14 mills in the Saanich district.

Council voted to prepare forms so tenders can be called next year for collecting Saanich garbage.

Coun. Leslie Passmore said calling for tenders might clear up any misgivings about present Saanich garbage collection tenders but he was satisfied present contractor L. S. MacNutt would win the contract again.

Council voted "unqualified support" for the school construction bylaws going before Greater Victoria ratepayers May 23.

Fountain

Estimate Trim Possible

City council was told yesterday that tenders received for the Centennial Square fountain can be trimmed to fit the $30,000 budget.

The fountain, centerpiece of the square, is a gift from the municipalities of Saanich, Oak Bay and Esquimalt on the occasion of the city's 100th birthday, marked in 1962.

LOWEST OF FOUR

Lowest of four tenders opened at yesterday's special meeting of city council was received from H. E. Fowler and Sons for the amount of $39,683.

Other bids: G. H. Wheaton, $40,410; M. P. Paine, $41,180; and Farmer Construction, $42,787.

City manager Dennis Young said the fountain contract differed considerably from those for other major components of the $2,000,000 civic project.

VARIOUS KINDS

The fountain specifications, he told council, contain "a very large provision" for pre-cost sums and options for the use of various kinds of materials.

Mr. Young said detailed review of the specifications would almost certainly bring the low tenders down to within the $30,000 allotted for the fountain.

The committee in charge of overall planning for Centennial Square is scheduled to meet Friday morning to discuss the award of the contract.

China Tells Soviet:

We'll Be Free By Next Year

LONDON (AP) — Communist China says it will be free of all debt to the Soviet Union by the end of next year.

Chen Yi, deputy premier and foreign minister, made the statement in a talk with British correspondents. He added that all other foreign debts will be repaid by 1967 and all internal government debts the following year.

He made clear that China intends to achieve production of nuclear weapons.

CATCH UP

"Of course we may not be able to catch up with a few of the most advanced nuclear nations for 10, 20 or 30 years," he said, "but we'll never give up our aspirations."

"We are opposed to atomic monopoly. Nuclear fission is not technologically very difficult. When the preparatory work is complete, we will explode a nuclear device."

MOSCOW (UPI) — The Soviet Union accused China last night of building a "Chinese wall" between whites, yellow and black nations in a deliberate policy of racism designed to sow dissension between the Soviet and Afro-Asian nations.

An official Soviet government statement warned Peking that such "racist" policies would meet the same fate as that of Hitler's Germany.

The statement, published in the government newspaper Izvestia and broadcast by Radio Moscow, constituted the strongest charge of "yellow supremacy" policies yet hurled by the Soviets at the Peking regime in the deepening controversy.

HONG KONG (AP) — Natural calamities have struck vast areas of Communist China.

Provincial radio broadcasts from China say parts of north China were devastated by recent floods and areas in south China have been plagued by prolonged drought.

But these calamities apparently have not affected the food situation yet.

Visitors and refugees from many major cities in China reported rice rations remained unchanged at between 32 and 35 pounds for each adult every month. Meats and vegetables are available in large quantities at the "high price" market, they said.

Radio Chengchow in Honan described spring floods in the southeast part of the province as "the worst in several decades." The broadcast said most places in the province had had continuous rain since early April.

LONDON (CP) — Three Vancouver Island students have won prizes in the 50th annual essay contest of the Royal Commonwealth Society, it was announced Monday.

Teresa Forslund of St. Ann's Academy in Victoria won special commendation in the senior class for students aged from 16 to 19.

Susan Bennett of Woodlands Junior High in Nanaimo won a special prize in Class B, 14 to 16, and Valerie Lishkin of Nanaimo won the best memorial prize in Class C, under 14.

Nearly 1,000 Commonwealth students entered the contest and Canadians won more than 100 prizes, the most of any nation.

About fifty-five per cent of the space in the new Bentall Building in downtown Victoria has been leased, and contracts are under negotiation for another 20 to 25 per cent of the accommodation in the eight-story building.

A spokesman for the owners, Dominion Construction Company, said Monday this was satisfactory and justified his company's decision to add two stories on to the original plan.

Total cost of the building was about $1,500,000, and the tenants and prospective tenants include, a bank, an investment house, data processing business, mortgage and finance corporations, and members of the legal, medical and dental professions.

NEW TENANTS

A number of the new tenants have already moved in, and others will be arriving in the next few days.

The building incorporates many office features of the most modern concept including a dual duct temperature system that provides flows of hot and cool air so that each tenant may select his own space temperature.

The building is named after the Bentall family, which has been connected with Dominion Construction Company, and is the fourth of its type. Others have been built in Vancouver, Calgary and Edmonton.

Dominion Construction was also the builder of the Canada Permanent office building on an adjacent corner, and is currently swinging its main Victoria force to the new Woolco department store in the Town and Country Shopping Centre.

GM DISAPPOINTMENTS

By failing to increase its dividend rate, General Motors may have put a damper on the stock market which in the past two or three days has been encouraged by the belief that GM was going to declare at least an extra 75 cents to its normal quarterly payment.

However, just after the New York stock exchange closed, GM announced it would pay an extra of 50 cents — same as it did at this time last year.

In Toronto, the stock exchange industrial index poked through to a new all-time high with GM, Ford and Chrysler providing the impetus, but there was a market cooling off of interest in the more speculative mining issues, some of which have lost most of the gains made prior to Texas Gulf's Timmins discovery.

Western oils continue strong with the market responding to improved earnings in the industry generally.

PIPELINE PROSPECTS

Trans Mountain Oil Pipe Line made a net profit in the first three months of 1964 of $2,427,000 (32 cents a share). This compared with $2,063,000 (27 cents) in the corresponding period of 1963.

WINNIPEG (CP) — Attorney-General Stewart McLean of Manitoba said Monday his department will investigate a Winnipeg Tribune report of a baggage porter who sought to refinance a first mortgage but found himself holding a $3,500 second mortgage as well.

"I'll have the departmental solicitors read the newspaper report and possibly examine any documents which might be helpful in determining if there were any fraudulent dealings," Mr. McLean said.

"I'm not saying there was any fraudulent dealing," The newspaper Saturday devoted half its front page and an entire inside page to a story about Benjamin Ivison, a 57-year-old baggage porter living in neighboring St. Vital. He earns $326 a month with a take-home pay of $296 after deductions.

It said Mr. Ivison asked a finance company to refinance his first mortgage on which he was paying $60 a month to consolidate other debts and change the payments to $75 a month.

It says that after agreeing to home improvements insisted on by the finance company at a cost of $1,215, he found he had signed a second mortgage

Mayor Wilson Hails Cheaper Flights To Vancouver, Seattle

Victoria Mayor R. B. Wilson last night hailed as "great news" the announcement that Trans-Canada Air Lines is extending its excursion fares, making it cheaper to fly to Vancouver or Seattle for short periods.

TCA yesterday announced changes which will:

- Extend its excursion fares to Vancouver, which formerly were available only to persons going and returning the same day, to cover a four-day period.

And institute an excursion fare to and from Seattle, also good for a four-day period.

EFFECTIVE JUNE 1

The changes take effect June 1 and will continue in effect all year, Victoria district sales manager S. G. Mooney said.

The excursion fare between Victoria and Vancouver is $9 economy and $12 first-class. The new Seattle excursion fares will be $13 and $17.

REGULAR FARES

Regular fares between Victoria and Vancouver are $16 and $22 and between Victoria and Seattle $26 and $34.

Mr. Mooney said C & C

Transportation Company is considering extending its one-day cut rate for limousine service to the Victoria and Vancouver airports. The cut rate is $3.20 return as against the regular $5.

TRIED FOR A YEAR

Mr. Mooney said the new TCA fares will be tried out for a year on an experimental basis and continued if there is an "acceptable" increase in traffic.

He said the change is aimed at meeting competition from ferries.

FOR LONG TIME

Mayor Wilson, who has been crusading for improved TCA service to Vancouver Island, said the announcement is "something we've been working for a long time."

He said he expected the changes to bring Victoria more visitors, especially from Seattle, Tacoma and that area but also from Vancouver.

He praised the fare cut, plus improvement in Seattle service by recent addition of another flight and improvements in schedules for connections with other flights at Seattle.

Area Magistrate Dies Suddenly

Funeral services will be held at 11 a.m. Wednesday in St. Charles Chapel for Magistrate Albert Isaac Thomas, who died Sunday night only two days after being released from hospital.

He was 68.

Born in Nanaimo, the son of a pioneer farmer from Wales, he rose from grocer's boy to magistrate. He entered Royal Jubilee Hospital last month after a heart attack, left the hospital on Friday and intended to spend three months convalescing in Vancouver.

FROM HOME

Then on Sunday he was taken from his home at 928 Claremont, Cordova Bay to the hospital, where he was found to be dead on arrival.

He is survived by his widow, Mary, four sons and a daughter.

SERVED AS REEVE

Esquimalt reeve from 1947 to 1951, he was appointed stipendiary magistrate for Victoria, Oak Bay, Esquimalt and Saanich police courts 21 years ago.

VIEW ROYAL COURT

In 1944, he was appointed to preside over the provincial police court at View Royal.

In his work as a magistrate, he became known as quite a harsh administrator of justice. Several of his sentences were reduced at later hearings.

REALTY FIRM

In the early 1950s he became a partner in the real estate and insurance firm Burdon Fleming and Thomas, later known as A. I. Thomas Agencies.

A veteran of the First World War, he was a member of the United Commercial Travelers of America, council No. 434; a member of Goldstream Lodge No. 161, A.F. and A.M., B.C.F., and the Shrine and Capital City Lodge No. 61 Knights of Pythias.

Seattle Scout Invested

Seattle Boy Scout Brent Weston was invested during a weekend ceremony as Cedar Hill and Garry Oak Scout troops entertained 35 U.S. Scouts at Camp Barnard in Sooke.

The U.S. visitors were from a University of Washington troop in Seattle under the leadership of George Minzel and Fred Tobey, and were taking part in an international exchange camp.

The Victoria scouts will make a return visit to Seattle on the weekend May 16 to 18 to participate in a Seattle camporee.

Airliner Trips; None Hurt

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (UPI)—A United Air Lines plane, en route from Washington to Chicago, nosedived on takeoff here Monday night with 24 passengers and a crew of four aboard. Airport officials said there were no injuries.

The Rochester-Monroe county airport control tower said the DC-8B plane's nose wheel collapsed while the airliner was taxiing. It then skidded along the runway before coming to a halt. All passengers were able to file safely out the front door of the plane, the tower said.

The flight, 715, originated in Washington and made a stop in Baltimore before it arrived here. Another stop was scheduled for Buffalo before the flight was to terminate in Chicago.

GNP INCREASE
South Africa's gross national product rose to $9,350,000,000 in the 1963-64 financial year, compared with $8,495,200,000 in 1962-63.

FIRST BIG BLOCK IN 50 YEARS

Bentall Fills Office Need

First major prestige office building to rise in Victoria for more than half a century, The Bentall at Douglas and Fort Streets takes its bow this week.

An eight-storey, $1,500,000 building, the Bentall is named for the family behind its builders, Dominion Construction Co. Ltd.—Charles Bentall, founder of the firm and its chairman of the board, and his son, H. C. Bentall, its president.

Found a Need

It all started several years ago when the firm undertook a study and discovered there was a need for new and modern office space in downtown Victoria.

"We selected the Fort and Douglas Street site because we feel it is the financial and commercial centre of downtown Victoria," said Douglas Sutcliffe, manager of Dominion's B.C. division.

The survey and the choice of site promptly proved correct. Original plans called for a six-storey building but the response was so swift and favorable when the plans were announced that an additional two storeys were added to the building.

Smart Lines

As it stands now, the clean, smart lines of the building's glass and stone profile enclose a total of 47,500 square feet of office space.

Entrance is gained off Douglas Street through plastic-faced Permatdoors into the high-ceilinged tile and marble lobby from where two high-speed elevators serve the upper floors.

The ground floor was specially designed to suit the needs of its three tenants—International Business Machines, Toronto-Dominion Bank and James Richardson and Sons.

Great Flexibility

The next two floors have been laid out to be specially attractive to doctors, dentists and other professional people who require comparatively small offices.

From the fourth to the eighth floor the building can accommodate virtually any tenants' special needs. (The entire top floor has been leased by the law firm of Crease and Co.).

The building's flexibility is built in. There are no posts to interfere with office floor plans.

Pillars and Core

This has been accomplished by supporting the building by pillars on its perimeter walls and by the central core, which houses the elevator shaft and washroom facilities.

Interior walls are filled with rockwall insulation, providing soundproofing as well as additional fire-proofing.

Air conditioning completely changes the air in the Bentall eight times every hour.

The air conditioning system is complete with a zonal control system so that various areas of each floor can be individually adjusted to suit personal comfort.

The Bentall's design has allowed for a new touch of greenery in Victoria's downtown. The set-back will be landscaped into a small park in the sky.

Fourth 'Bentall'

Victoria's Bentall building is the fourth in the west. Dominion Construction Co. Ltd. has previously built others in Vancouver, Edmonton and Calgary.

History's Mysteries

The Bentall's story began publicly with the announcement of the plan in November, 1962, following purchase of the property from O. B. Taylor.

At the time, McEwan's Restaurant and pharmacy were operating on the site in premises which had long been known to Victoria as Terry's Restaurant. This cafe, with its long counter, formed an integral part of growing up for a generation and more of Victorians.

So it was with nostalgia that Victorians watched the first stage, the tearing down of the old building (which was accomplished a week ahead of schedule).

But nostalgia gave way to mystery before long.

A number of old pipes were discovered, 2½ inches in diameter. The mystery surrounding them was cleared up when it was found that they had been part of the equipment of a company which had once operated a central heating plant and sold heat to nearby buildings.

There was the matter of the concrete "fingers" on which the Bentall now stands. There are 60 of these—holes drilled to bedrock anywhere from 16 to 29 feet down and then filled with concrete.

While drilling was in progress late last July one of the augers just disappeared.

Investigation showed the drill had chewed through a concrete slab cover and fallen into an old well that extended 34 feet down to bedrock. Lined with brick that had partly caved in, the ready-made hole was just filled with cement, though it took nearly three times as much as the other piers.

Council Meeting Favors Bylaws

City council held a special meeting yesterday to give approval in principle to a total of 11 bylaws.

Included in the list were bylaws establishing taxes for 1964 at a rate of 57.9 mills — a 2.9 mill increase over last year — and one to permit basement suites in apartment blocks.

In the past only a caretaker's suite has been permitted in the basement of an apartment building.

Changes in the zoning and building bylaws will permit other basement living accommodation but stipulates that in the case of more than one suite the area will be regarded as another story.

BIGGER SITE

This will mean that a greater site area is required for the apartment building.

Regulations governing location of basement suites are based upon the National Building Code, adopted by city council early in 1963.

Other bylaws will permit payment from the tax sale lands account of $10,000 for new refrigeration equipment for Memorial Arena and another $110,000 for development of the arena site.

PLAYLAND LEASE

Alfred Peterson, operator of a children's playland at Beaver Lake, is to get a new five-year lease under another bylaw.

Yet another will change the name of Amphion Street, between Brighton and Redfern, to Brighton Crescent.

HOST TO VISITORS

More than 200,000 tourists and other visitors passed through South Africa in 1963, spending an estimated $80,000,000.

The Queen

No Heavy Work, Queen Told

LONDON (AP) — Doctors have warned Queen Elizabeth to avoid a heavy work program this summer, court sources reported Monday.

As a result, they added, the Queen will make fewer public appearances than usual before leaving in October for Canada.

The Queen, 38, gave birth to her fourth child, Prince Edward, six weeks ago. Rumors that her health is giving cause for concern have been strongly denied by Buckingham Palace. "There is nothing sinister in this," a palace spokesman said.

"The Queen is perfectly healthy but this is simply natural advice from her doctors after having her fourth child."

"The Queen is and has been very fit. It's just common sense."

"She eased off her normal hectic program after the birth of Prince Andrew, who was born about the same time of the year."

"Usually she does a tremendous amount of work during the summer."

The Queen was scheduled to return to London today from Windsor Castle, where she has stayed since Prince Edward's birth.

Sunday she was out with the crowds on the castle lawn to watch her husband, Prince Philip, play polo.

NORMAL BOUND

At Buckingham Palace the Queen will resume her normal round of official audiences, court sources said. But she will avoid outdoor ceremonies which often involve long hours of standing and several speeches a day.

Leave Us Alone Says Angry Beatle

HONOLULU (UPI) — Two of England's mop-topped Beatles, muttering complaints about their treatment in Hawaii, left for Tahiti last night after a brief stay in a Honolulu hotel.

Only four squealing teen-age girls — plus the usual bevy of reporters and photographers — watched Beatles John Lennon and George Harrison make their getaway.

"Why didn't you leave us alone?" shouted Lennon to a photographer who had asked why they hadn't stayed in Hawaii longer. "How would you like to have a microphone stuck in your face when you are on a holiday?"

Was in Cavalcade

Story of Assassination Wins Journalism Prize

NEW YORK — The story of the assassination of President Kennedy, movingly covered by veteran reporter Merriman Smith of United Press International, who was in the cavalcade at the time the president was shot, has been awarded the Pulitzer Prize for national reporting.

Malcolm Browne of the Associated Press and David Halberstam of the New York Times won prizes Monday for international reporting for their work in South Viet Nam. They will share a $1,000 award.

The St. Petersburg, Fla., Times won the Pulitzer Gold Medal for meritorious public service, for an "editorial campaign to uncover fraudulent spending of public funds by the Florida State Turnpike Authority."

NEW YORK POST

Prizes were established under the will of Joseph Pulitzer, late publisher of the New York World and the St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

The prize for general local reporting was awarded to Norman C. Miller of the Wall Street Journal "for his story of the multi-million-dollar fraud in vegetable oils."

WINS SPECIAL AWARD

A prize for special local reporting went to Albert V. Gaudiosi, James V. Magee and Frederick A. Meyer, all of the Philadelphia Bulletin, for "their expose of a numbers racket (illegal lottery) and police collusion in south Philadelphia." Gaudiosi and Magee are reporters and Meyer a photographer.

Russian Officer Spurned Affair With Christine

LONDON — The News of the World reports a Leningrad court has found Soviet navy Capt. Yegor Ivanov did not have an affair with Christine Keeler. The court ruled Ivanov only used his contacts with Christine and Dr. Stephen Ward to meet influential Britons and said the Soviet intelligence service approved of his spy technique. He has been restored to active duty in Leningrad.

Skid Road Claimed Poor Rose Joe

VANCOUVER (CP) — Rose Joe: At 17 a heroine; at 22 a victim of a sordid existence on Skid Road.

The transition was related Monday by a friend, Moses Tommy, three days after Rose died in hospital, apparently after giving up the desire to live.

On May 31, 1959 Rose was living on the Coquitlam Indian reserve near New Westminster when RCMP constable John Clark, then 27, was called to a riotous family party in the Joe shack.

He was shot in the chest by a frightened member of the party.

John Robertson, Rose's fiancé, rushed to the constable's aid and pulled him into the police car. Rose joined him.

Robertson had only driven a car twice before but drove to hospital at speeds reaching 80 miles an hour. Rose calmed the bleeding constable who kept trying to grab the wheel.

The desperate journey saved the constable's life. He is now a corporal in the Northwest Territories.

LEFT RESERVE

Tommy, a neighbor of the Joe's, said Rose left the reserve with Robertson shortly after that. They were never married but Rose had a son.

The couple separated and Rose drifted to skid road and a life of drinking and too little eating that has killed many Indian girls on the street.

The Children's Aid Society took the child away about 18 months ago because of Rose's living conditions.

TOO SLEET

Rose, heartbroken but too set in her ways to change, plunged deeper into her dismal life. Her mother and four brothers and sisters saw her last about a year ago.

On Friday night, Norman Kendall, the man with whom she was living, found her unconscious in bed in their rooming house.

The inhalator squad rushed her to hospital, applying external heart massage on the way, but she was dead on arrival.

GIVE UP

"It looked as if she decided to give up living," a hospital official said.

Announce New Healing Substance... Shrinks Piles, Checks Itch

Exclusive healing substance proven to shrink hemorrhoids... and repair damaged tissue.

A renowned research institute has found a unique healing substance with the ability to shrink hemorrhoids painlessly. It relieves itching and discomfort in minutes and speeds up healing of the injured, inflamed tissue.

One hemorrhoidal case history after another reported "very striking improvement." Pain was promptly and gently relieved... actual reduction or retraction (shrinking) took place.

Among these case histories were a variety of hemorrhoidal conditions. Relief even occurred in cases of long standing, and most important of all, results were so thorough that this improvement was maintained over a period of many months.

This was accomplished with a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne) which quickly helps heal injured cells and stimulates growth of new tissue. Bio-Dyne is offered in ointment and suppository form called Preparation H.

In addition to actually shrinking hemorrhoids, Preparation H lubricates and makes elimination less painful. It helps prevent infection which is a principal cause of hemorrhoids.

Just ask your druggist for Preparation H Suppositories or Preparation H Ointment (with a special applicator).

Satisfaction guaranteed or your money refunded.

'64 Comet — for people who have more fun than money

Fun is a carefree week-end by the water. (You arrive in style in your beautiful Comet—relaxed, refreshed, ready to join in the fun.)

Fun is a wind at your back, open water ahead and a bright, cloud-flecked sky above. (There's mighty smooth sailing in a Comet, too. Steady, obediently responsive to the "helm".)

Fun is admiring the sleek lines of a taut, trim craft. (The crisp, clean styling of the rakish Comet presents an ever-present invitation to adventure. Just cast off and cruise.)

Fun is sitting in quiet contemplation, with the surf swishing in and out on the sands. (And Comet doesn't interrupt your reverie when you leave. You're carried away smoothly, silently in gentle Comet comfort.)

Fun is a visit to your Mercury dealer (to discover how economical all this fun can be.)

New Curling Zone Seen Totem Spiel in November

VANCOUVER (CP)—A north-western zone of the Pacific Coast Curling Association may be set up, officials said Sunday following the association's annual meeting here.

Vancouver Squad Edges Shamrocks

South Vancouver Legion scored five unanswered goals in the second half at Memorial Arena Sunday to edge Victoria Junior Shamrocks, 6-5, in the Inter-City Junior Lacrosse League.

Trev Trevlora scored twice and Bill Robinson, Deslaurier, Bob Sault and Gronda got the others for Legion, the club which has lost to Shamrocks in the last two B.C. finals.

Glen Vickers, John Allen, Rod Kilduff, Nirmal Dillon and Ranjit Dillon handled Shamrocks' scoring.

The PCCA zoning is under study and a fourth zone could be established, a spokesman said. The zone would include Prince Rupert, Kitimat, Terrace and Smithers. All have expressed interest in affiliating with the association.

The executive tentatively set the prestige Totem bonspiel for November, but actual date was left to later committee meetings.

The meeting also discussed the possibility of establishing a Canadian bonspiel for seniors (over 55) and will attempt to promote a Canadian high school girls' bonspiel.

Don McRae of Nanaimo was elected president of the association. Don R. McRae of North Vancouver was named first vice-president. Ned Wiginton will continue as secretary.

The November date for the Totem event was proposed by Vancouver Island delegates. The pre-Christmas date would attract more entries, they said.

The Totem was started in 1955 by Vancouver zone clubs and was held in late November. The PCCA took over the competition two years ago and shifted the dates to late January.

Ted Harris Tops AHL All-Stars

CLEVELAND (CP) — Ted Harris, whose rugged defensive play was a big factor in Cleveland Barons' march to the Calder Cup, topped the poll for the American Hockey League's 1963-64 all-star team, the AHL announced Monday night.

The 27-year-old Winnipeg-born defenceman, who once played with Victoria Cougars, received 41 of a possible 45 points in a poll conducted by sports reporters and radio and television broadcasters in the nine league cities.

Joining Harris on the first all-star team were goalie Gump Worsley of Quebec Aces, defenceman Al Arbour of Rochester Americans, centre Art Stratton and left winger Yves Locas of Pittsburgh Hornets and Rochester right winger Gerry Ehman. First-team players received a $300 bonus from the AHL.

Locas, the league's leading goal-scorer, was runner-up to Harris with 37 points and Worsley, a veteran National League campaigner with New York Rangers and Montreal Canadiens, polled 35.

The forties—wonderful but vulnerable years

The forties are rich and satisfying years for most women. Children are less demanding by then, allowing Mother more time to relax and enjoy herself. And since income is often higher many women can turn to personal interests they couldn't afford before.

At the same time they can be vulnerable years. A woman widowed in her forties needs a substantial income to keep the home going. If she doesn't have this income she'll have to go out to work. Probably the kind of work she was doing before she married.

But twenty years have gone by. The methods she remembers, the equipment she's familiar with—all will be vintage 1940. She'll discover she's competing for jobs with younger well trained people. Life will be a tough row to hoe.

One sure way to prevent this tragic readjustment is to invest in Manufacturers Life's permanent insurance. It combines family income protection with the advantages of a sound personal investment. Call the Man from Manufacturers and ask him to help you check whether you have enough permanent insurance for your current needs.

Robert Kennedy Target For Proposed Bomb

NEW YORK (UPI)—A top teamster union official planned to assassinate Attorney General Robert F. Kennedy by tossing a plastic bomb into his convertible automobile, a national magazine reported Monday.

The justice department first learned of the murder plot in September, 1962. Look magazine said in a copyrighted article by Clark Mollenhoff of the magazine's Washington bureau.

'ALL WE NEED'
According to the article, Edward Grady Partin, a Baton Rouge, La., teamster official, was visiting International Teamsters headquarters in Washington when he was called into a teamster office.

Partin swore he was asked to help obtain plastic explosives to be used in the assassination of the attorney general. "Something has to be done about that little S.O.B., Bobby Kennedy," a top teamster official was quoted as saying. "He'll be an easy target, always driving around Washington in that convertible with that big black dog. All we need is some plastic explosives tossed in with him, and that will finish him off."

STORY STOOD UP
At first, federal officials found his story too incredible to believe. But the story stood up under intensive questioning—and a lie-detector test.

Basic security measures for Kennedy and his family were tightened. He was not allowed to drive the convertible any more.

SECRET WITNESS
Partin was a secret government witness against teamsters union boss James R. Hoffa in his recent jury tampering trial at Nashville, in which he and three other teamster officials were convicted and sentenced to prison. The convictions are being appealed.

Mistrial Try Rejected

CHICAGO (UPI)—Federal Judge Richard Austin yesterday rejected for the third time attempts to have a mistrial declared in the $20 million fraud trial of teamster leader James Hoffa.

Defence attorney Maurice Walsh demanded the mistrial because of remarks made by Attorney General Robert Kennedy to a group of law students last weekend.

Austin overruled motions for a mistrial or a continuance, as he also did last Wednesday and Friday.

DO SOMETHING
Walsh pointed to remarks by Kennedy printed in Chicago newspapers. The attorney general was quoted as telling the students that he became familiar with corruption in the teamsters union when he was attorney for the Senate Rackeys Committee, and he decided to do something about it.

"The remarks were made by a government official who came to this territory to make his prejudicial remarks," Walsh told Austin.

"This is a novel situation, where a government official who is practically the prosecutor in this case would come to the area to make remarks that are prejudicial," Walsh said.

He asked that if a mistrial were not granted, that Austin call a continuance "until such time as the prejudice is dispelled."

Dry Dock, Plumbers Halt Talks

VANCOUVER (CP)—Discussions were broken off Monday between the Vancouver plumbers' union and Burrard Dry Dock.

Russ St. Eloi, union business agent, said no new proposals were submitted to Monday's meeting. Attended by William Sands, deputy minister of labor, George Carmichael, a conciliation officer, and representatives of the shipyard.

St. Eloi said the union will continue its policy of no pickets at the shipyard as long as other workers do not touch plumbers' equipment or jobs.

OTHERS SETTLED
The plumbers remained on strike at Burrard following settlement of an 11-week strike by 2,000 workers, members of 22 other unions, who settled for a three-year pact providing wage increases ranging from 36 to 40 cents an hour.

He was educated in Victoria at Willows, Oak Bay Junior High, Victoria High and at Victoria College for two years before going to UBC.

Grand Slam Hand

EDMONTON (CP)—Fireman Phil Sevigny backed odds of $35,000,000,000-to-1 Monday to come up with a grand slam bridge hand.

Mr. Sevigny and partner Lowell Jenkins were playing with Al Ridden and Len Geall at a city fire hall.

Mr. Sevigny was dealt the ace, king and queen of all suits and the jack of hearts.

Roy Sinclair, University of Alberta mathematician, used computers at the university to arrive at the odds figure.

Brush Fires Sweeping Nova Scotia Forests

HALIFAX — The worst out-break of brush fires in Nova Scotia history yesterday had forestry officers patrolling some 40 separate blazes in western and southwestern parts of the province.

Several new fires were reported in Halifax County as each hour suburban fire departments rushed to a new spot to throttle fresh outbreaks.

Although firefighters appeared to be getting the upper hand, the department of lands and forests described the forest fire danger index as "extremely hazardous" in many western counties. Unless a break in the warm weather and drying winds came within hours, a closure of woodlands in western Nova Scotia was a virtual certainty. The fires that began in the province's tinder-dry woodlands early Saturday had by late afternoon blackened at least two thousand acres of scrub bush. Heavy timberland areas were still snow-covered and not affected.

River Pact Cut

OTTAWA (CP)—The Columbia River Treaty with the United States is "not even a question of a second-best plan of development but a humiliating, degrading, subservient one," the Mine-Mill union said Monday.

It urged testimony under oath by former external affairs minister Howard Green, former justice minister David Fulton and lands minister Ray Wilton of British Columbia to find out why B.C. vetoed the so-called McNamara plan of river development wholly within Canada.

Mr. Fulton is scheduled to testify May 11-12 and Mr. Wilton already has done so.

The International Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers is the second trade union to attack the 1961 treaty and the protocol signed last January, being studied by the Commons external affairs committee.

The Mine-Mill brief said the B.C. government, the present Liberal and former Conservative governments at Ottawa had capitulated to the U.S.

Meanwhile balance of Canada is expected to have temperatures above and much above normal, with lighter precipitation. —(CP Newsmag)

Two Deny Mass Murders

FRANKFURT (UPI)—Adolf Eichmann's two aides Monday pleaded innocent to helping kill 437,000 Hungarian Jews but admitted taking a suitcase full of extortion money from the victims.

"But I don't feel guilty at all," said ex-Gestapo Lt. Col. Hermann Krumey.

"Me? I had nothing to do with Krumey except one time when we picked up the suitcase of money together," testified the second defendant, ex-Gestapo Capt. Otto Hunsche.

Eichmann was in charge of Adolf Hitler's wartime program to exterminate Jews. He was convicted and hanged in Israel for mass murder.

Anti-Red Group Examined

OTTAWA (UPI)—Prime Minister Lester Pearson told the commons yesterday he was looking into a telegram sent to his office complaining about the actions of an anti-Communist organization.

The telegram was sent by Montreal mayor Leonard Jones, Jr. He asked that action be taken against a group known as the Christian Action Movement and its newspaper, the Canadian Intelligence Service.

The question was raised by Gordon Fairweather (PC-Royal), who asked if any action had been considered within the framework of Canadian law. Mr. Pearson replied that he had just received the telegram and was investigating.

Target: 12 Miles

OTTAWA (CP)—Fish-photos were taken at Prime Minister Pearson in the Senate Monday as Conservative speakers fired their first rounds at a government bill to establish a 12-mile fishing limit along Canadian coasts.

But all opposition speakers said they approved the principle of the bill.

Senator Orville Phillips (PC-Prince Edward Island) said the prime minister was guilty of "gunboat diplomacy" in not making further attempts to have the United Nations approve the new limits.

The bill, introduced in the red chamber last week, would ban foreign fishermen from Canada's rich offshore fisheries and also extend Canada's territorial waters farther out to sea.

Fishermen from other countries now can fish to within three miles of Canada's coasts.

Senator Alfred J. Brooks (PC-New Brunswick), Opposition leader, outlined the Conservative position on the bill during its second-reading debate stage.

"I want to make it perfectly clear that the Conservative party supports the principle and the need of extending our fishery zone to the 12-mile limit," he said.

No-Confidence Move Facing Opposition

OTTAWA (CP)—A Conservative non-confidence motion concerning the government for not grappling with water resources problems was proposed in the Commons Monday by former Resources Minister Walter Dinsdale.

The motion was immediately criticized by Creditiste Gilles Gervais as being insipid, unimaginative and beneath the dignity of the Commons for discussions in a supply debate.

PROVINCIAL MATTER
Arguing that the subject matter is largely of provincial concern, the Creditiste introduced a sub-amendment urging the federal government to take concrete action to apply its Agricultural Rehabilitation and Development Act.

After the supper break T. C. Douglas indicated the New Democrats would vote against the Conservative motion.

VOTE TONIGHT
No Canadian government had ever launched a program to conserve water in Canada and the motion was a case "of the pot calling the kettle black," the NDP leader said.

The Conservative motion, to be voted on tonight, charges the minority Liberal government with neglect "in failing to establish a co-ordinated national water policy."

that the council hoped it would. He had hoped for donations of about 50 cents a head."

BELOW TARGET
He said the fund — with an objective of $8,500 — stood only at $2,100 so far.

Council seemed in a casual, post-budget mood, dealing briefly with items, swift to refer back many matters.

The budget item, which sets taxes up two mills to 46.5 for 1964, was confirmed without further comment.

REFERENDUM
A communication from the board of school trustees of School District 61, enclosing a copy of school loan by-law referendums number six and seven and asking for use of the Oak Bay Municipal Hall for the vote-taking, went by with only one comment.

At a suggestion from Reeve Cox, council pledged its "wholehearted support" of the referendum and urged ratepayers to do likewise.

LETTER FILED

A letter from F. G. Baker, 1984 Waterloo Road, re the development of the University of Victoria Lansdowne campus and against high-rise apartments, was received and filed. F. W. Benton, 1180 Victoria Avenue, wants to see an alley which runs between Victoria Avenue and Roslyn Road, parallel to Windsor Road posted with speed limit signs. As Reeve Cox said, the alley is becoming a "drag strip." Council referred this to the traffic and transportation committee.

VIEW COMPLAINT
A letter on the recently defeated community centre project and on recreation in Oak Bay in general, from Mrs. W. T. Lawson, 1354 St. David Street, was referred to Parks Committee.

A complaint from F. L. Shaw, W. R. Bransby and Colin Gibson, all residents of Beach Drive Manor Apartments, 1318 Beach Drive, about development of Oak Bay Marina and obstruction of view by parked vehicles, was referred to streets and traffic committee.

Council decided to make grants applied for by Oak Bay Board of Trade, of $243.25 for a self-propelled float in the Victoria Day parade, $200 for materials and a total up to $500 for a beach party from Oak Bay Marina to Willows Park.

Victorians' Art on Loan

New paintings valued at more than $1,700, including works by Victoria painters, were among the 101 loaned out to members at the Art Gallery last night.

Local painters were Flemming Jorgensen, Molly Privett, Susan Gibson and John Osborne. Vancouver artist Gordon Smith was included, and so were Marquita Malingay, former Victorian, and Ethel Planta, Toronto.

Cochrane Rites Wednesday

Funeral services will be held in Haywards' chapel at 3 p.m. Wednesday for a prominent Victoria doctor, William John Cochrane, 70, of 1750 Green Oaks Terrace, who died in hospital yesterday.

Dr. Cochrane, a native of Victoria, spent 19 years of his life in Corner Brook, Nfld., where he was made a freeman of the city for humanitarian work.

Fare, Usage Both Higher

TORONTO (CP)—Toronto Transit Commission has moved into the black for the first time in two years following a fare raise that, contradicting the warnings of experts, was followed by increased patronage. TTC chairman Ralph Day said continuing high employment in Metropolitan Toronto and the addition of miles of service to its suburban lines last September are big factors in the increased patronage.

WASHINGTON—Quote of the day: President Johnson, describing a round of golf as a "pretty good game," was asked his score and replied: "I don't want to get into details."

In 1963 the Equitable of Canada issued the highest amount of insurance on individual lives in its history . . . To date in 1964 the Company topped 1963 sales for the same period by 16%.

Pedder Bay

Relics Threatened

By JACK FRY

Ex-Owner Smith

One of the world's most valuable Indian middens is likely to be dug up for topsoil unless the government steps in to buy property at Pedder Bay Marina just beyond Mary Hill and William Head.

New owner of the property, James Copray deWilde, had already cut into the edge of the huge midden to provide parking space and a better road for his customers.

He also hopes to build a restaurant to cater to sports fishermen and tourists.

The new owner will seek the backing of United States financiers for development of improved mooring facilities, and plans to offer private new boats for rental to sports fishermen and he is still removing top soil from the edge of the huge midden to provide parking space and a better road for his customers.

He also hopes to build a restaurant to cater to sports fishermen and tourists.

The new owner will seek the backing of United States financiers for development of improved mooring facilities, and plans to offer private mooring facilities to sports fishermen here after new floats are built in 1965.

The Pedder Bay Marina, formerly owned for five years by Joseph Smith, 65, had been on the market for some time and many observers thought the provincial recreation department should have purchased it for use as an oceanfront park, to tie in with its adjacent Matheson Lake park.

Mr. Smith said he had never

Diggers at Work

"disturbed this land and nobody else would if I had known about it."

Mr. deWilde said he hopes for co-operation with the new owners of the nearby Grouse Nest resort by offering services which will supplement their operations catering to international travellers.

But Mr. deWilde emphasized there is no financial connection between his marina and the unidentified Swiss interests who are backing the Grouse Nest development.

Mrs. J. H. Beatty

Botanical Bay

'Use Beach For Science'

Owner of four acres of land on Port Renfrew's Botanical Beach is interested in having the land used for scientific purposes by the University of Victoria, and is ready to discuss possible acquisition by the university.

Mrs. J. H. Beatty, of 1008 Terrace, whose late husband purchased the land from the late Dr. Josephine Tilden, says she is "very interested" in having the land used by the university.

MOST INTERESTED

Marcus Bell, head of the university's botany department, said the university is most interested in the property but "it's a matter of funds."

"There's no question about it. We need wild land very badly. We want timberland, beach property, salt marshes, and bogs for research and field work."

"Botanical beach is an excellent area for marine botany."

SUCH WORK

The four acres was originally intended for such work, Mrs. Beatty recalls.

She said that she has correspondence from the original owner, Dr. Tilden, who not only wrote that she wanted to see the beach used for scientific purposes, but actually drew sketches showing where Mrs. Beatty might best build a home where it wouldn't interfere with the scientific buildings she visualized.

LEFT IN TRUST

Mrs. Beatty said she feels something of a "custodian" of the beach, as if it had been left in trust to her, rather than obtaining it as an outright purchase.

"I don't mean that expensive or elaborate buildings should be erected there, but it should be made use of," Mrs. Beatty feels.

LITTLE USE

She thinks it of little use as a recreational park. The bathing isn't good and boats can't be launched.

But it is valuable to scientists. Internationally known botanists have gathered there and it was in 1906 that Dr. Tilden established a Minnesota Seaside station there for botanical research.

The beach has many unusual forms of marine life there and this makes it valuable to science.

Mrs. Beatty realizes this and that is why she is willing to hold on to it indefinitely rather than see it sold and misused.

Visiting Danish gymnasts will receive the VP treatment when they arrive here, Wednesday.

The two teams, 12 men and 12 girls, will meet Health Minister Martin and tour the legislative buildings at 1:30 p.m. and two hours later will have tea with Lieutenant Governor Pearkes.

Then they will return Victoria's hospitality by dividing into two groups to stage a gym clinic at the YM-YWCA for teachers and others with a professional interest, and to present a display of their skills at the DVA Hospital, that evening.

Thursday will be free for sightseeing in the afternoon and at 8 p.m. they will present an exhibition in the Memorial arena.

Where They'll Cut Nobody Knows

By IAN STREET

The special capital budget committee has made up its own mind which projects should be included in the $3,400,000 referendum to be held in June.

The final decision, however, rests with city council which is expected to consider the special committee's recommendations next week.

City manager Dennis Young said following yesterday's closed committee meeting that priorities which would cut the total of $6,800,000 in projects to the desired $3,400,000 have been established.

A special meeting of city council will be held, probably early next week, to establish which projects are to be listed on the money bylaw ballot.

BYLAW VOTE

Mr. Young said the committee also considered date of the proposed bylaw vote and agreed that the "most logical" choice was Thursday, June 18. But this, too, will have to be ratified by council.

Council has already adopted the principle of a capital budget.

Mr. Young several weeks ago produced his draft budget containing $6,800,000 worth of urgent capital works to be carried out over the next five years.

He advised, however, that the city could afford to borrow only $3,400,000 over the period.

Gasoline Price

They're All Up Now

Cut price gas stations have followed the example of the standard brand stations in part by increasing their regular quality gasoline prices by one cent.

Mohawk and Pay 'n Save increased their regular gasoline to 39.9 cents a gallon but left premium unchanged at 43.9.

Last week the standard brands went up to 40.9 and 45.9 cents for regular and premium.

Fire Department

Saanich Chief Victorian

By HARVEY SHEPHERD

A veteran Victoria city firefighter was appointed Saanich fire chief last night although two Saanich council members said the appointment is an insult to present members of the Saanich fire department.

Acting in accordance with recommendations by Lamond, Dewhurst and Associates, Vancouver personnel and management consultants hired for the purpose, council appointed Joseph Sutherland, 52, a veteran of 18 years' service with the Victoria department, who now holds the rank of fireman first class.

BITTERLY OPPOSED

The appointment was bitterly opposed by Councillors Leslie Pasmore and Harold Todd who said it amounted to saying no Saanich firefighter, from deputy fire chief Glen Robbins on down, is as good as a man as a city firefighter who has never attained officer's rank.

Coun. Todd described the report of the "so-called experts" as "a lot of garbage" and said the fact the Saanich department is an excellent one "ought to show something to any practical person."

DECIDING VOTE

Coun. Pasmore said that at the closed meeting of council's finance committee at which Mr. Sutherland was chosen, a motion by him to appoint the deputy fire chief as chief received a three-three vote of councillors, with Reeve Stanley Murphy casting the deciding vote.

Last night only Councillors Pasmore and Todd voted against appointment of Mr. Sutherland. He is to succeed retiring Fire Chief Joseph Law at the end of June, on the six months' probation which the reeve described as customary.

Coun. Joseph Casey, chairman of council's finance committee which deals with fire matters, and Coun. Hugh Curtis said the job had been advertised for applications across western Canada and applications were considered strictly on merit.

Coun. Casey said the committee had considered the applications of 15 men, winnowed by the consultants from 50 applications from as far east as Winnipeg, without even knowing their names. The consultants had, as requested, identified the men to the committee merely by assigning numbers.

He said that some time ago he and the reeve posted a notice in the fire department asking all firefighters to write an examination since promotions were forthcoming. The firefighters' union, he said, had told council the firemen had been advised not to write the exam since there was no provision for it in the union contract.

Boy's Find Lethal

A Saanich boy about five years old caused a great deal of consternation by finding 10 sticks of wet dynamite in the bushes at Haro near Sinclair last night.

The youngster brought his find home to his mother, Mrs. Donald C. Mathison, 3828 Haro Road—she phoned the police who picked up the lethal cargo and were about to take it to an expert for disposal when Mr. Mathison walked in the station with four more sticks.

A policeman who drove the 75 per cent forfeit over for disposal said he was not sure powder was more dangerous when wet.

"But it gave me an uneasy feeling driving with that stuff in the car," he said.

The powder was turned over to powder expert A. J. Barr who assured the policeman it was dangerous when it was in a pulpy state.

Tunnels Free Of Water

The Cowichan Copper Company mine at Jordan River, flooded since Dec. 6, now is to all intents and purposes free from water, a company official said last night.

O. G. MacDonald, president of Cowichan Copper Co. Ltd., said in Vancouver last night that installation of a concrete bulkhead was completed Friday sealing off the worked-out portion of the Sunro mine where a cave-in Dec. 6 admitted the waters of the Jordan River, flooding the mine.

MINE DE-WATERED

He said the company had four pumps working through the weekend and by yesterday the mine was, for practical purposes, "completely de-watered" and will remain so regardless of the flow of water in the Jordan River.

He said the concrete plug, which seals off a nine-foot-by-nine passageway, is 10 feet thick and reinforced with I-beams and is considerably more than sufficient to withstand any water pressure it will have to bear.

MACHINERY UNDAMAGED

He said that, as was anticipated, the machinery in the mine was found to be virtually undamaged after its long immersion.

Esquimalt

Three Mills Higher

By BOB PETHICK

Esquimalt council last night approved a three-mill tax increase, to 44 mills, but due to fringe benefits many homeowners will find themselves paying less in taxes than last year.

The council also approved salary increases for the reeve and council members. One councillor, Walter Lock, objected.

POOL REFERENDUM

And it decided Esquimalt owner-electors will vote on a $383,000 municipal swimming pool referendum May 23.

The three-mill tax boost is based on a record $1,232,200 budget, compared to $1,157,773 last year.

LOAN RETIRED

A municipal official explained owners of many older homes will find their taxes down from last year due to an increase in the homeowner's grant and retirement of a 50-year-old sewer loan bylaw, on which the last payment was made in 1963.

This does not apply to some newer homes still paying local improvements.

TAXES TO DROP

In the case of an $18,000 home which has been paying the sewer rental fees, taxes will drop an average $4.05 while a similar-priced home still on local improvement will pay $5.25 more.

Other approximate figures: Tax $7.65 less on a $13,000 home paying sewer fees, 75 cents less on local improvement; tax $13.56 less on a $7,000 home paying sewer fees, $11.06 less on local improvement.

UP FOUR MILLS

In the last two years, Esquimalt budgets increased by a total of four mills—to 39 from 37 in 1962 and then to 41 last year.

Taxes were broken down into 20.4 mills for schools, 18.76 for general purposes and 4.84 mills for general debt.

FEDERAL GRANT UP

On revenue estimates the federal grant was up $18,000 from 1963 and the provincial grant was increased by $6,000.

Last year's general taxation came to $634,478 compared with $687,691 this year.

COSTS INCREASE

In expenditure estimates general government costs were up from $97,407 to $109,600; protection, police, fire, law enforcement, up from $145,774 to $161,000; education costs up from $282,857 to $299,428; recreation from $55,132 to $64,305, with the total expenditure up from $1,157,773 to $1,232,200.

SALARIES BOOSTED

The salary increases, $300 for councillors and $600 for Reeve A. C. Wurtele, were brought in by finance committee chairman Coun. George Argyle over the objection of Coun. Lock.

Majority Proves Violators

City police roadblocks Saturday night turned up 179 traffic violators—more than 60 per cent of the 305 cars checked.

Officers at the Roundabout and Bay at Point Ellice Bridge discovered: four drivers without valid licences; two muffler infractions; three minors driving without insurance; one learner unaccompanied by a licensed driver; one unreported change-of-address; two drivers who had failed to dim their headlights in oncoming traffic; one driver whose licence was under suspension and one car without a proper hand brake.

Police say other roadblocks will be set up in the city in weeks to come.

City Teacher One of 71

High school teacher Walter Thrumm, 1596 Sonria Place, will take part in a summer institute in science and mathematics at the liberal arts college in Colorado Springs, one of 71 teachers chosen for the research study.

The eight-week institute is operated under a $91,900 grant from the U.S. National Science Foundation.

Daughters of the Nile will hold their spring bridge-tea beginning at 2 p.m. on Thursday, May 7, in the K. of P. Hall. From left, Mrs. G. M. Irvine, queen of Miriam Temple No. 2, discusses plans for the affair with convenor Mrs. R. M. Williams and Mrs. Roy Cornie, who will assist with the home-baking stall.—(Bud Kinman)

ANN LANDERS

Dear Ann Landers: My husband's 22-year-old brother got out of the service three weeks ago. Vernon is staying with us until he finds a job. I have just about decided that if he doesn't go to work within two weeks I am going to work because I can't stand him around much longer.

If you can tell me what to do about just one of Vernon's habits I will be grateful. My husband says I have no sense of humor. I say his brother is a jerk.

Vernon answers our telephone with "Maizie's House of Pleasure," or "State Mental Hospital. Give to Mental Health or I'll Kill You." Sometimes he says, "Benny's Bookie Joint," or "St. Patrick's Cathedral, the Cardinal speaking." Our friends and relatives are complaining that this nut shakes them up with his crazy jokes.

The last time Vernon did this, the Baptist minister was on the phone. He didn't think it was very funny. Am I wrong?

BRINK OF WAR
Dear Brink: Since your husband doesn't seem to have any better taste than his brother, it's up to you to tell the clown to let the phone ring unless he can answer it properly. And let him know in plain language that you mean business.

Dear Ann Landers: A lot of knot-head husbands who wouldn't think of reading a book on psychology read your column every day. Without realizing it you are educating a great many people—even those who insist at the top of their lungs that they are reading you for laughs.

Will you please say a few words about menopause. I am 47 years old. (Everyone who writes to you says "I look younger." Well, not me. I look older.) For the past two years I've had hot flashes and sinking spells. During supper I will say, "Joe, open the window. I'm burning up." Twenty minutes later I'll say, "Joe, close the window. I'm freezing." He tells me I am imagining things and that I'm off my rocker.

Will you please print in your column that this is part of "the change," of the menopause. Thank you, in behalf of millions of suffering women who are also married to clods.—28 YEARS OF SERVICE

Couple to Live in Vancouver

"Prayer for a Perfect Love" and a special arrangement of "Psalms Angelicus" were sung by Laurier Lamoureux during the ceremony in St. Andrew's Roman Catholic Cathedral, Saturday morning, that united Elizabeth Helen Early and Paul Joseph Dwyer.

Organist was Miss Marguerite McKay.

Snagdragons in pink and white theme against a background of greenery decorated the church. Pews were marked with white bows.

Fr. Bernard Hanley heard marriage vows exchanged between the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James H. Early of Kempenville, Ont., and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard H. Dwyer of Welland, Ont. Mr. Early gave his daughter in marriage.

The bride wore a full-length gown of white peau de soie highlighted with a short-sleeved lace jacket and white accessories. Her net veil misted to shoulder-length from a coronet of seed pearls. White stephanotis, feathered eartiens and pink roses were in her bouquet.

Only attendant, Miss Barbara Holner, wore a shrimp-toned tulle gown styled with round neckline and belled skirt. She completed the ensemble with shoes and hat in tone and carried a bouquet of white carnations.

Brian Fagan was best man and guests were ushered to their pews by Robert Martin and Fred McGrath.

A three-tier wedding cake, made by Mrs. John Mika, centred the bride's table at a reception in Holyrood House. The cake was topped with pink rosebuds and streamers. Arrangements of pink and white blossoms completed the decor. Charles Hall proposed the toast.

Following a honeymoon trip to California, the couple will make their home in Vancouver.

Jubilee Graduate

Joyce Modrall Wins Top Award

Royal Theatre was filled to capacity, Sunday evening, when families and friends gathered for the presentation of the 1964 class of the Royal Jubilee Hospital School of Nursing.

When the curtains rose to mark opening of the ceremony, 62 nurses in white uniforms, each holding an arm bouquet of red roses and greenery, were seated on the raised dais. Brilliant red carnations against a background of fern decorated the stage and stair railing. A large replica of the hospital symbol dominated the background.

Program opened with musical selections by the student nurses' glee club under direction of Mary Wood. Rev. F. E. H. James gave the invocation. Greetings were extended on behalf of the provincial government, city council and the hospital medical staff, by deputy minister of hospital insurance, Donald M. Cox, Mayor R. B. Wilson and Dr. D. M. Whitley, respectively.

Prof. Robert T. D. Wallace, dean of administration and acting dean, faculty of arts and science, University of Victoria addressed the graduating class.

The "Robert S. and Patricia Day Memorial Scholarship" presented to the graduate nurse who had attained highest degree of general proficiency in theoretical and practical work and who also possesses "those qualities of mind and spirit which should characterize the members of the nursing profession and enable them to uphold the high ideals which find expression in the consecrated personal service."

was received by Miss Joyce Modrall and presented by William H. Day.

Other awards were announced by Miss E. M. Moore, assistant director of nursing education and presentations made by George Masters, hospital administrator.

Winners included, Evelyn Lorraine Whitney, proficiency in bedside nursing; May Guthrie, highest standing in examinations; Marilyn Patricia Moffat, proficiency in medical nursing; Joyce Margot Holcombe, surgical nursing; Donna Margaret Robertson, obstetrical and gynecological nursing; Margaret Aileen McPhee, pediatric nursing; Marilyn Jean Ward, highest standing in R.N. examinations.

Royal Jubilee Hospital Alumnae bursary was presented, in absentia, to Miss Shirley Branner; the Woman's Auxiliary "Lena Mitchell Bursary" was presented by auxiliary president, Mrs. G. H. Coffey, to Mrs. Freda Woodworth, and the Junior Auxiliary bursary presented by the president, Mrs. R. W. Campbell, to Mrs. Ingrid Reidel.

Ceremonies concluded with the valedictory address by Miss Louise Plester and recital of the Florence Nightingale Pledge by the graduates.

Among special guests were Premier W. A. C. Bennett and Mrs. Bennett. Master of ceremonies was Joseph Casey, chairman of the hospital board of directors. Following the exercises a reception for the graduates, their parents and friends was held in the Harmony Room at the hospital.

Mannequins Sport Mink Eyelashes

By EILEEN LEAROLD

Well these perfectly gorgeous, absolutely fascinating, breathtaking Italian models arrived, and they are all they were advertised to be.

As everyone in town should know by now, they will appear in the presentation "Italy Today" to be given at the Empress Hotel Wednesday night at 8:30. Almost everyone must know, because the fashion show and wine-tasting affair is already a 300-person sell out.

There was a small reception for the models and people from the Italian Trade Commission office in Vancouver at the Imperial Inn yesterday just after they arrived in town.

The first one we met was Graziella Palumbo who doesn't speak English, but that doesn't matter very much when you have long, up-slanted green eyes and a wide, wide smile.

Eletta Polvani, does speak English so she spoke for both of them. Where Graziella is fair, Eletta is dark, with more of those up-slanted eyes, but very black.

Both models seemed warm and gay with an easy, assured manner and relaxed charm. It is said that on the fashion run, they are both at home, they glide around like remote sphinxes.

Graziella and Eletta both worked as mannequins in Paris before gaining fame at home, might like to know about the odly enough both with Balmian eyelashes they wear for the and Dair. Since then they have worked out of Italy, but spend almost as much time abroad doing international shows as they do at home.

The models wore what they say is the most popular thing in Italy today—dark blue jackets, double-breasted with brass buttons, waist high pockets, fashioned after the uniform of the Marines.

"These are so good with skirts, slacks—anything," they said. Graziella wore hers with a wide turtle-neck sweater in navy, and Eletta wore a fine-knit white turtle neck jersey. They wore dark skirts and snug, hair-hiding hats—for the windy boat crossing.

Their shoes were designed with a more rounded toe and the heels, stacked.

"Thank heaven the points are out—this is far more comfortable," they said.

They are exactly the same height, one meter, 73 centimeters.

Following some arithmetic, that turns out to be just under five foot seven inches.

Perhaps their most arresting feature is their eyes.

"We use very pale lipstick, little powder, light foundation, but we do accent our eyes with lots of black, brown and blue."

After some talk in Italian, Eletta said Graziella thought we before gaining fame at home, might like to know about the

Campbell's Vegetable Soup and "Funwiches"

Campbell's Vegetable Soup is most children's favourite. They like the bite-sized vegetables, the amusing alphabets. Mothers like the fact that this is a nourishing soup—made with 16 different vegetables and hearty stock simmered from real beef bones.

"Funwiches" are sandwiches that appeal especially to youngsters. We list five. They're all surprisingly wholesome.

1. Peanut butter and banana: the banana can be sliced or wrapped whole, hot-dog style.

2. Cheese and grape jelly: make the layer of cheese thick, with just enough jelly for flavour.

3. Bologna and pickle: slice standard sweet pickles thinly, or use pre-sliced "bread-and-butter" pickles.

4. Salmon salad: mix together salmon, finely-chopped celery and onion, plus a dab of mayonnaise.

5. Chopped egg and relish: a dash of relish in standard, chopped egg ingredients adds colour, flavour.

China Nears Goal Of Nuclear Device

LONDON (UPI)—Communist China has indicated officially it may be able to explode a nuclear device before long although it will be many years before nuclear weapons are developed, British reports said Monday.

The reports said Communist Chinese vice-premier and foreign minister Marshal Chen Yi made the disclosure in a written reply to questions from a group of British newsmen now visiting Communist China.

The reports from Peking said Chen told the reporters that nuclear fission itself was not difficult and China would explode an atomic device "when the preparatory work has been completed."

Chen was quoted as saying, however, that he was unable to indicate when China would have nuclear weapons.

Chen said the Peking regime was opposed to any nuclear monopoly and wanted to catch up with whatever level the world's leading powers had reached.

Car Makers Planning Big 'Shell' Changes

NEW YORK (CP)—The New York Times says the automobile industry this year is tooling up for one of its most significant model changes in history.

In a report from Detroit, the newspaper quotes sources in Detroit as reporting that the 1965 autos, scheduled to be rolling off production lines this summer, will embody more basic styling changes than any since the 1955 model year.

CURRENT LEVEL

"Public response to these new cars will determine whether the industry will be able next year to sustain its current record level sales," the Times says. "And the magnitude of the costly model change may influence the outcome of the industry's labor negotiations this summer."

The Times quotes a production planner for a leading company as saying: "Everything seems to be getting the brush this year. This is the year of the big change."

HUGE PROPORTIONS

It says the 1965 model change will reach huge proportions mainly because the big three auto companies—General Motors, Ford Motor Company, and Chrysler Corporation—will make basic body shell changes in the Chevrolet, Ford and Plymouth lines.

"This will be the first time it has happened at the same time since the 1955 model year," The Times says.

The paper says General Motors also will make basic body-shell changes this year in its full-size Buick, Oldsmobile and Pontiac lines, as well as in the Cadillac and the small Chevrolet Corvair.

"Ford will make the same type of changes in its Mercury line. And Chrysler will extend them to the Dodge and Chrysler cars."

HEAVY RESTYLES

The Times says even the fourth-ranking American Motors Corporation, which changed all its cars basically since the 1963 model year, will make "some unusual changes in 1965 models." It says Studebaker Corporation, which last December moved its auto making to Hamilton, Ont., will avoid heavy restyling.

Special service bulletin for Mutual Life policyholders

Here's how Mutual Life can help you plan for your child's education

The value of a university education can't be figured in dollars and cents — but the cost can! If your child attends a university in your area today, the expense for books, tuition fees and clothes could come to about $1,000 per year; away from home with room and board included, the cost would be about $2,200 each year. Naturally, costs will vary depending on the area, the course taken, and the institution — but in every area costs are continually rising.

Your child could pay some of this expense himself... but probably not all of it. He will need your help. Most parents don't have this amount of cash available either, but you can if you plan for it!

Will you take the time to discuss this important matter with your Mutual Life representative? He can show you a plan for accumulating money through The Mutual Life which will guarantee funds for university education. The Plan will guarantee that the money will be available whether you live or die. This is the way thousands of our policyholders are building a guaranteed fund to enable their children to have a university education without financial worries. Call your Mutual Life of Canada representative and talk it over with him... or mail the coupon below.

Winning Contract

By HOWARD SCHENKEN and RICHARD L. FREY

When a player doubles for takeout, and his partner passes for penalty, it is usual to lead trumps. Such tactics should not be blindly followed, however, and on this hand a self-reliant West would have acted differently.

East did not expect to collect a fortune when he passed partner's takeout double for penalty. He had no suit to show and he wished to avoid a response of one no trump which in this situation suggests a more promising hand. He regarded the penalty pass as the least of evils, and since North-South were vulnerable, it might gain a reasonably good score.

South stood his ground with dogged courage when a more seasoned campaigner would have retired to one no trump. This would probably be made after the lead of the spade king.

Against the dealer's trump holding, West led the trump king, and declarer was allowed to win. He attacked diamonds, and when West held off for two rounds, he shifted to clubs. West won and returned the spade king, but declarer made his doubled contract by means of three trumps, two diamonds and a trick in each black suit.

West blamed his partner's trump holding for the poor result, but the fault was his. A player who doubles one heart for takeout is expected to have spades, so there was an inference that East was short of spades when he made the penalty pass. In that case, the spade king was likely to prove a telling lead. In fact, it would have insured 500 points, since East risks himself of a club or diamond loser on the third round of spades and, in addition, the defenders collect both their queen and ace of hearts to hold declarer to two trump tricks.

Research Ship Here

By KEN JOHNSON

Electronic equipment for recording measurements of ocean depths is checked over by Don Wicklund of New Jersey.

Seabed silt from the crust of the north Pacific and samples of ocean water and plankton wait aboard the U.S. oceanographic research vessel Vema, docked at Esquimalt, to be shipped to laboratories in New York.

The three-masted former pleasure ship, now manned by U.S. scientists and an almost all-Nova Scotian crew, is taking on supplies before setting off for Midway Island, Tokyo and Hong Kong, Thursday.

COLLECTING SAMPLES

Operated by the Lamont Geological Observatory of Columbia University at Palisades, New York, the 202-foot, 743-ton diesel-powered ship arrived in Victoria via the Panama Canal on a three-month sample-collecting voyage.

PROFILE CRUISE

This was her first scientific profile cruise of the North Pacific. Using special equipment, like a 2,000-pound core head which is driven as much as 80 feet into the ocean bed, the scientists measure the thickness of the sediment on the bottom of the sea.

She has two laboratories near her stern, a deck-level recording lab, and a below-deck wet lab where sediment samples are processed.

Built in Denmark in 1923, the ship was taken over by the university 12 years ago. In her days as a schooner, she carried around 10,000 square feet of sail.

When Vema docked in Victoria yesterday, her chief scientist, Xavier LePichon, went off to New York to await arrival of the samples to be shipped there for analysis.

Meanwhile, scientist Bill Ludwig will take over for the rest of the vessel's 10-month around-the-world voyage.

Bridge Results

Winners of the Almatraz Duplicate Bridge Club held at the Moose Hall were Paul Smith and Les Stewart; Elliot Cusworth and Jack Smith; Frances Carr and Jo Wadsworth; Jack Gidde and Tony Smith; Jim Dugan and John Bishop.

Taking On Supplies

Rain From Heaven Delights Farmers

EDMONTON (CP)—Farmers Monday showed joyously through puddles created by three days of heavy rain on the western Prairies and predicted a sharp improvement in 1964 crop potential.

Up to 3.23 inches fell before noon MST Monday. Scattered showers were expected to continue in Alberta and Saskatchewan until tonight.

Pincher Creek, 70 miles west of Lethbridge, was drenched with 3.23 inches since rain began Saturday. Lethbridge received 2.94 inches since Thursday.

At Medicine Hat, where blowing dust was a problem during an extremely dry March, 1.28 inches fell.

Farmers of 1,000,000 acres of irrigated land around Lethbridge were forced to delay seeding. No ill-effects were expected unless the heavy downpours continued several days.

I. C. Nollet, Saskatchewan agriculture minister, said of the rain:

"It's just what we need to start the crop off and prevent soil drifting. We need lots more, of course, but this is just what the doctor ordered."

SALESMAN: More car for the price!

MOTHER: A good car for the children?

SALESMAN: In every way. The interior's completely washable, so you don't have to worry about spilled ice cream cones. And BMC builds in fool-proof safety locks on the back doors, nicely hidden out of sight. The youngsters can't get out until you let them out.

SON: Hey mister, did somebody swipe the spare tire?

SALESMAN: Not a chance, young fellow! It's hidden under the trunk, in its own separate compartment. Your dad has a full 10 cubic feet of clear trunk space here, with no muddy spare tire to worry about. And see how the light goes on when you open the trunk? That's a feature you don't get in other cars at the price!

FATHER: Come again?

SALESMAN: Look this Austin over. Figure in the extras you get at no extra charge. There isn't a car on the market that's built as beautifully as the Austin Cambridge—and comes as fully equipped—yet sells at such a practical price!

FATHER: How's the Austin Cambridge for performance?

SALESMAN: Great! The engine's basically the same as they use in one of BMC's hottest sports cars. Peppy pick-up, cruises easily... and it delivers up to 36 miles to the gallon of gas!

FATHER: Mind if we take it out for a ride?

SALESMAN: Go right ahead. You'll like the way this Austin handles. Smooth riding too. And remember... you can get it with automatic drive if you choose!

MOTHER: Attractive dashboard, isn't it?

FATHER: Beats me how they can finish this Austin so beautifully and still sell it at such a good price. This is the car we've been looking for!

Suicide Attempt Adds to Term

A man who slashed his throat and wrists with a razor blade after being arrested for shoplifting was sentenced to eight months in jail yesterday for attempted suicide and six months for theft.

John Montgomery, 30, of 1801 address, was arrested about 12:55 p.m. Saturday after attempting to steal a woman's purse from McMartin's Leather Goods.

Police said he apparently secreted a razor blade in his mouth while being searched and at 1:25 p.m. slashed his throat several times and his wrist at least once.

Court was told yesterday Montgomery has a long police record for theft, narcotics offences and other attempts at suicide.

He told court yesterday a back injury had been giving him "too much pain." He pleaded guilty.

Magistrate William Ostler described him as "a physical and mental wreck."

Darold Hadley, 1147 Colville, was released on a $100 bond and ordered to keep the peace for six months yesterday after he was convicted of spitting in a woman's face.

Hadley, who pleaded not guilty, was charged with common assault and convicted after a trial.

Lover's Lane Crash

It Happened Fast — We Won't Forget

A two-month-old baby will be going home to his bruised family next week, on his way to complete recovery from a nightmarish accident in Beacon Hill Park Saturday.

Paul Locke, 308 Catherine, was one of six people taken to hospital after a two-car collision on narrow Lover's Lane just before 6 p.m. Saturday.

His mother, Florence, and four other children were treated and released Saturday night. A friend of the family, Mrs. Julia Allan, 1222 Hollywood Crescent, who was driving one car, was said to be in "good" condition yesterday.

The other driver, and sole occupant of the second car, R. W. Gerr, Work Point Barracks, was not injured in the collision.

Paul is too young to remember the near-tragedy, but the rest of the family won't forget it for a long time, Mrs. Locke said.

"It was an awful thing," she said yesterday, "we were just driving along and bang, it happened."

Mrs. Locke said the baby suffered a fractured skull, but doctors say there was apparently no permanent brain damage.

"It all happened so fast—but we won't forget it so fast."

ANOTHER ACCIDENT
Meanwhile, Albert Potentier, 1448 Fairfield, is also said to be in good condition in Royal Jubilee Hospital after another accident Saturday.

Mr. Potentier suffered shoulder and nose injuries when his car skidded across Esquimalt Road, sheared off a hydro pole and flipped over.

An accident Sunday at Shelbourne and Kenmore sent David Murdoch, 20, of 1675 Myrtle to hospital with head cuts. He was said to be in good condition yesterday.

His car was damaged to the extent of about $800.

Engine Gone

Nurse Offers Reward For Car Wreckers

A Victoria nurse, whose car was found Sunday stripped and smashed has offered a $50 reward for information which convicts the persons responsible for the theft.

Barbara Whiteley, 2614 Inez, lost her car a week ago. The 1956 Anglia was found Sunday in woods near Shawnigan Lake.

The engine and transmission were taken, two tires were gone and the windows and upholstery smashed and ripped.

Miss Whiteley, who had no theft insurance, has offered $50 for information on the thieves.

A few weeks earlier a car was taken from Victoria, and found later near Nanaimo. Parts of value were stripped from that vehicle as well, and the windows were smashed.

RCMP in Victoria said they did not think the incidents were the work of an organized gang.

Citizenship

Rotary Trip Won By Gerry Davison

Gerry Davison, 16-year-old Mount View High School student, was chosen from five candidates to take part in the Citizenship in Ottawa, May 11 to 14.

Each of the Greater Victoria District's five high schools offered a candidate for the trip.

The winner, who lives at 3308 Robson Crescent, will visit the House of Commons, Government House, the Supreme Court, National Research Council, the RCMP training depot and the Royal Mint.

DINNER GUEST
He will receive his citizenship certificate, and be the guest at dinners and lunches.

In addition, he will study the National Capital Plan and take part in group discussions.

He will speak at the high schools on his return.

River Tested For Pollution

TRAIL (CP)—Federal and provincial health authorities are investigating possible pollution of the Columbia River following the deaths of 12 head of beef cattle.

Dr. James McNulty, regional public health officer, recently warned communities in the West Kootenay area that Columbia River water "is fit only for washing machines."

Court Hearing Set In School Blast

Two juveniles, charged in connection with a bomb blast at Elizabeth Fisher High School last month, will appear in Colwood juvenile court May 11.

They appeared yesterday and were remanded one week in connection with an explosion in the unoccupied school washroom.

Oral Vaccine Turnout Pleases Authorities

Medical health authorities report they are satisfied with the number of children and adults who received Sabin oral polio vaccine at a series of clinics in Greater Victoria and Southern Vancouver Island last week.

The clinics—in school districts 61, 62, 63 and 64, were held for adults and pre-school children, in conjunction with public school booster doses.

More than 40,000 doses were handed out at last week's clinics, with some centres still not reported to health officers.

Dr. John Whitbread, city medical health officer, said yesterday probably 45,000 will have taken the vaccine last week.

"We consider it a good turnout," Dr. Whitbread said, "and we are more than satisfied with the results."

Clinics will be held again in the fall.

Santo Domingo

Bayonets Clear Streets

SANTO DOMINGO (AP)—Troops moved with fixed bayonets into Santo Domingo's streets Monday in an attempt to crush the mounting disorder threatening the Dominican Republic's three-man civilian regime.

The government gave orders to a mixed force of 2,000 army, navy, air force and police troops "to proceed with extreme energy" after fighting between police and rioters had erupted in the city.

BURLED ROCKS

The rioters hurled rocks, with police responding with barrages of tear gas shells. But no sooner was one crowd scattered than another formed to start another demonstration.

Dockworkers walked off the job to join university students in support of a three-day strike by taxi and bus drivers. The government warned it considered the strike illegal and would impose strict measures to end it.

MAP ACTION

During the day the civilian triumvirate met with the armed forces' chiefs of staff to map action against the growing wave of anti-government disturbances.

Violence broke out in Santo Domingo's workers' quarters and a policeman shot to death a worker who attacked him with a knife. It was the first fatality reported. At least 20 persons were wounded and 150 persons arrested in rioting Sunday.

The Federation of University Students issued a communique declaring it was joining "the working class, which has taken the lead in seeking a return to constitutionality."

ASK PRESIDENT'S RETURN

The students called for the return of President Juan Bosch, who was ousted by military leaders last Sept. 25 on charges of being soft against Communists. Later, the military turned control of the government to a three-man civilian junta.

From his place of exile in Puerto Rico Bosch told a reporter that Dominicans were "very much disgusted with the chaos and injustice which has followed the military coup which ousted my government."

CIVIL WAR

His Dominican Revolutionary Party issued a manifesto here saying the country faced the choice of "return to constitutionality or national disaster." It warned that civil war could break out unless democratic institutions were restored and "the dangerous schism" in the armed forces closed.

Castro Loses Latest Red Radar

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Soviet Union has removed from Cuba a highly sophisticated new radar system that probably added to the effectiveness of Fidel Castro's anti-aircraft missiles, it was learned Monday night.

Invitation Accepted

UN Secretary-General U Thant has accepted invitation to visit Ottawa May 25 and 26, when problem in Cyprus, where Canada has 1,150 men on UN peace-keeping force, is likely to be discussed.

Sprinklers For Wheat?

OTTAWA (CP)—T. C. Douglas, leader of the New Democratic Party, suggested in the Commons Monday night that some sort of "sprinkler system" might some day add five to eight bushels of wheat an acre on the Prairies.

Speaking on a non-confidence motion hitting Liberal lack of a water conservation policy (See Page 20), Mr. Douglas said peak production has just about been reached in Western Canada's wheat-growing capacity.

Hero Shows His Bonds

Freddy and His Girls Foil TV Set Bandits

HAMILTON (CP)—It didn't take eight-year-old Freddie Douglas and his all-girl posse long to re-establish law and order in the neighborhood. Two men invaded Freddie's home, tied him up with a skipping rope and made off with the family's television set.

Freed by a younger brother

This radar system — which qualified sources said had not been seen anywhere else but Cuba — was withdrawn about two or three months ago. It was said to have been less susceptible to jamming, capable of faster tracking, and probably was for use against low-flying planes.

Withdrawal of this system returns the efficiency of the Cuban radar — so vital to the performance of the anti-aircraft missiles — to the level of what it was at the time of the Cuban missile crisis in the fall of 1962, it was reported.

Russian anti-aircraft missiles, called SA-7s, were believed to have shot down an American high-altitude U-2 reconnaissance plane over Cuba at the height of the 1962 crisis.

REPORTS DENIED

The withdrawal of the advanced radar system by the Russians was disclosed after the U.S. defence department denied published reports that the Soviets had pulled their top-grade anti-aircraft missiles out of Cuba.

The defence department statement said the department has "no information indicating any change in the characteristics of the ground-to-air missiles installed in Cuba, despite published reports."

Amputee Agrees with Magistrate:

'No Better Than Rubbish'

VANCOUVER (CP) — Legless Carl Anderson thinks perhaps his old friend Magistrate Les Bewley was right when he said he should be picked up and put in a garbage can.

Anderson, who walks on two rubber boots attached to the stumps of his legs, was interviewed Sunday as he sat in the sun on the steps of a skid road mission only a short time after he finished a one-day jail term for drunkenness.

BECOMING NUISANCE

Magistrate Bewley told him Saturday morning: "You are becoming a nuisance. In the past year you have had eight drunk convictions."

"You would be better off if police picked you up and put you in a garbage can."

GIVEN WARNING

The magistrate sentenced Anderson, 73, to a day and warned him that a longer term could follow the next conviction. Magistrate Bewley said in an interview later: "Carl and I are old friends and we have spoken some truths to each other for a good number of years."

BETTER REASON

"Because of his condition Carl has a better reason than most people for getting drunk, but he has proved a nuisance to persons on the street."

He said he was saying in his court remarks that instead of continually arresting Anderson it might be better to bodily remove him "to a place where he could sober up."

GOING DOWNHILL

Anderson said he has been going downhill since he was in a crash while prospecting around Uranium City in 1953. He spent four days and nights in freezing weather before being rescued. Both legs and all his fingers were amputated because of frostbite.

"I have not been much use to anyone since then."

He described Magistrate Bewley as a "good man."

"Always he has been kind to me. He has given me chances and I have let him down. I do not wonder he is fed up with me."

"I did not mind him bringing the ash can into it. There are times I feel the same way. I know that some people don't like the things he says but it needs something like that to hit home."

Tariff Talks

'WILL' POWER NEEDED

GENEVA (CP)—Trade Minister Sharp of Canada joined representatives of the other major trading nations Monday in appealing for a display of "political will" to achieve success in the Kennedy round of tariff-cutting negotiations despite current disagreement over negotiating rules.

Sharp told the formal opening of the negotiations — expected to last 18 months or more — that Canada intends to bargain actively for both agricultural and industrial concessions in export markets and is ready to "pay fully" for such benefits.

Canada is participating in the negotiations as a member of the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade.

SET STAGE

The late U.S. president John Kennedy set the stage for the round by pushing through the United States Congress the Trade Expansion Act of 1960 which gave him the right to cut U.S. tariffs by as much as 50 per cent in exchange for reciprocal concessions.

WILL SEEK CHANGE

In closed ministerial sessions today, Canada was expected to press forcefully for an end to the European Common Market's reluctance to reduce its agricultural protectionism.

Sources said Canada, while not blind to the political and social difficulties of such a step

Lots of Enthusiasm

Wait Till Fall New Banks Told

VANCOUVER (CP) — Finance Minister Gordon indicated Monday that three proposed banks must wait until fall for their federal charters.

He said in an interview that the government hopes to amend the bank act in the fall after studying the recently-released report of the Royal Commission on Banking.

"It is not very likely new charters will be granted before the act is revised."

Charter applications have been made by the proposed banks of Western Canada, British Columbia and Laurentide.

"Last time I talked to Premier Bennett about the bank he said there was so much enthusiasm and support for it in B.C. that it could easily be financed even if the government didn't put any money into it."

The recent session of the legislature passed a bill that permits the government to purchase up to 25 per cent of the capital of the proposed bank.

Children Tested For Radiation

NEW YORK (AP) — Police said Monday they have rounded up all children known to have been playing near an x-ray machine at a construction site and none have yet shown any ill effects from radiation poisoning.

WITH DISFAVOR

"Any postponement would be looked on with disfavor by the people of British Columbia," he added.

B.C.'s economy would be stimulated by early approval of the bank bill.

The premier also denied he had told Mr. Gordon earlier that investor interest in the bank was so high B.C. might not have to become a shareholder.

SHARE CAPITAL

He said he told the federal finance minister that the degree of investor interest was such that B.C. might not have to put up more than five or 10 per cent of the initial share capital.

Five Sailors Killed, Strayed into Minefield

WASHINGTON (AP) — Five U.S. Navy men were killed at the Guantanamo naval base in Cuba Saturday after they walked into a U.S. minefield, the navy announced Monday.

The navy said it is possible that the men, who had swimming trunks and bathing towels, may have become lost in the darkness "and strayed into the well-marked restricted area."

Flood Aftermath

Bennett Telegraphs
Pearson for Help

Premier Bennett has formally telegraphed Prime Minister Pearson inviting federal participation in providing aid for B.C.'s Good Friday tidal wave victims.

He told reporters yesterday he had not asked for any specific sum but had proposed a formula for federal aid.

B.C. authorities are awaiting an independent appraisal of tidal wave damage which has been estimated at $5,000,000 to $6,000,000.

In Edmonton, Provincial Secretary Black said the appraisers' report is expected this week or early next week.

He was there for a one-day national survival conference.

In other flood news:

Nanaimo's Mayor Pete

Maffeo called a meeting of the Association of Vancouver Island Municipalities' disaster fund committee for the Nanaimo city hall at 5 p.m. Friday.

He said more than 30 Island municipal officials will review the fund's progress and discuss collection changes with a view to reviving interest in the drive for $250,000.

The executive of the United Fishermen and Allied Workers' Union sent $500 to the Alberni Valley fund. It also urged all locals to send in reports of damage and instructed the union vessel Chiquita III to obtain a full report during its trip up the west coast this month.

Skidiving crewmen of the Canadian Coast Guard cutter Racer went down in waters off the west coast Indian village of Hot Springs Cove and recovered kitchen stoves and other lost household articles.

The RCMP vessel Victoria, skippered by Fred Brooks, brought to Hot Springs Cove a donation of clothing from the DelMolay Signal Hill chapter in Victoria, led by master councillor James Power.

The Somass Legion branch in the Qualicum area set up a special poppy fund to help veterans who suffered flood losses.

Reports from Kyuquot said tidal wave damage, mainly confined to floats, has been repaired.

'Ottawa Has to Wait'

Unhappy Victims of Flood Calm Down to Hear Laing

By MARGARET TREBETT

ALBERNI—Federal aid for tidal wave victims will be forthcoming without delay as soon as B.C. says it is needed, Resources Minister Arthur Laing told an orderly, placard-packed crowd of about 100 people Sunday.

(B.C. took cash action yesterday — see adjacent story.) The crowd gathered on a parking lot in the middle of the devastated area near the Somass River to await the arrival of Mr. Laing, who was touring the area with disaster fund committee members and representatives of Twin Cities councils.

WHAT FOR ALBERNI? Their placards read: When? What? Are we Canadians or just British Columbians? $5,000,000 for Alaska without appraisal. What for Alberni?

Mr. Laing indicated he believes the provincial cabinet may decide at a meeting today how much federal assistance will be necessary for the compensation of householders and businesses which suffered damage in the tidal wave March 28.

REPORT NEEDED He spoke of the need for the report from the appraisers to guide the senior governments in their decision. To complaints that Ottawa has delayed in declaring a national disaster, Mr. Laing explained the federal government is undecided about this because it must wait for B.C. to say the disaster was so big B.C. could not handle it on its own.

ALSO WARNED "I assure you that there is no lack of co-operation between the federal and provincial governments," he declared. He also warned the people that criticism of the governments might dry up the flow of voluntary aid being received from organizations, firms and individuals.

Mr. Laing mentioned there had been no delay in sending the army to help in the clean-up.

'LIKE GENTLEMEN' "From reports I've heard, the army did a good job, and what's more they acted like gentlemen," he said.

Jack Gilbank, whose house was washed across River Road by the wave to within 100 yards of the spot where the crowd gathered, took exception to the remarks about the army.

He declared soldiers had ruined fruit trees and damaged a well pipe on the lot from which his house had been swept as they recovered logs for Mac Millan, Bloedel and Powell River.

MET ORGANIZERS Mr. Laing was introduced to Mrs. Gordon Rowland, who had been instrumental in organizing the protest group.

Surrounded by the placard-carrying crowd, Mrs. Rowland explained quietly the hardships of the people whose homes and household effects had been damaged.

JUST CAN'T WAIT She agreed Mr. Laing was not to blame for the delay. "We just can't wait much longer," she said.

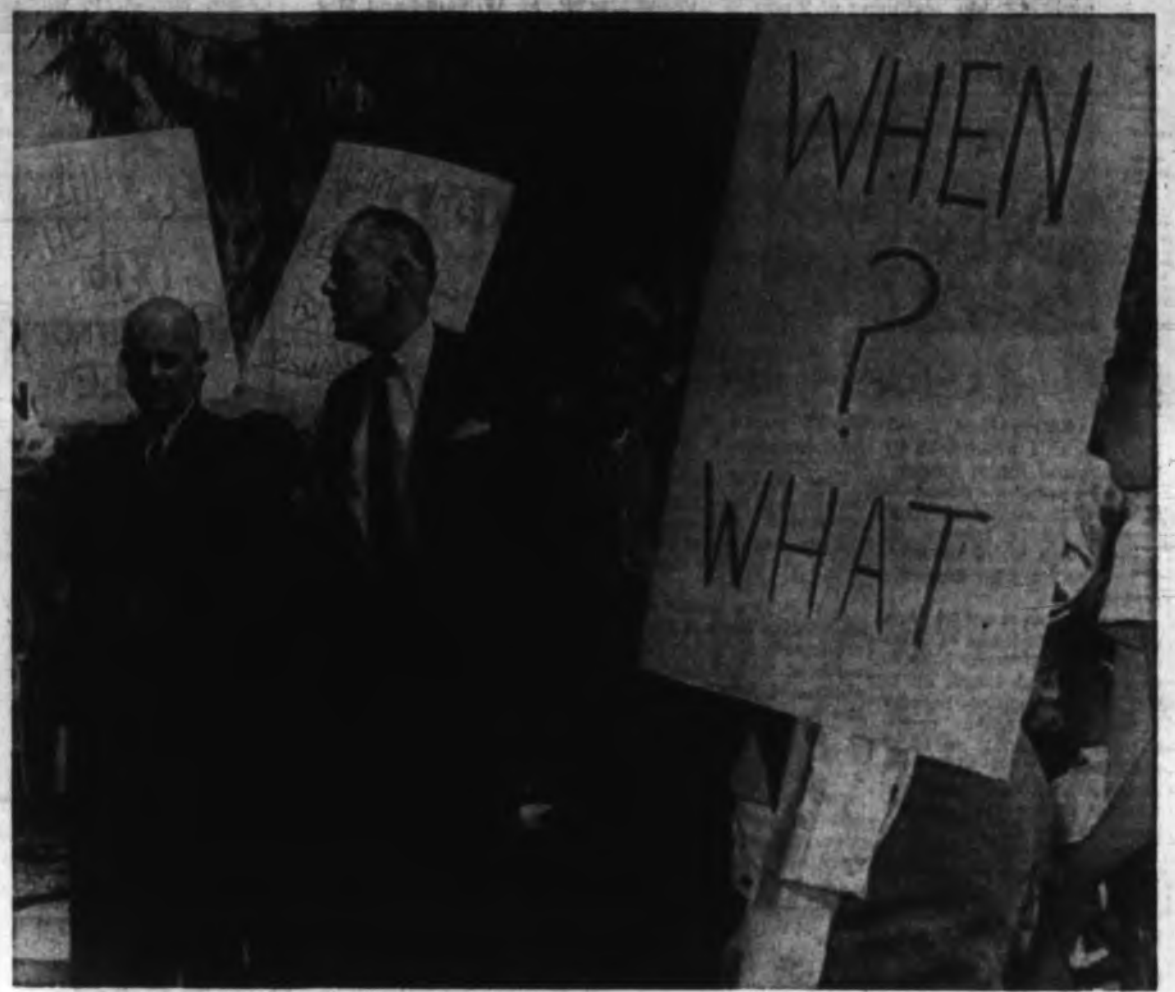

Bright spring sunshine warmed the crowd, which ranged from children to grandparents.

Jack Gibson, former Comox-Alberni MP, accompanied Mr. Laing who flew in by B.C. Airlines plane for the afternoon visit.

Loan for Sidney

Sidney will receive a $32,267 federal loan to help finance a sewage system, Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation announced in Ottawa yesterday.

Copper Mine

Free
Of Water

The Cowichan Copper Company mine at Jordan River, flooded since Dec. 6, now is to all intents and purposes free from water, a company official said last night.

O. G. MacDonald, president of Cowichan Copper Co. Ltd., said in Vancouver last night that installation of a concrete bulkhead was completed Friday sealing off the worst-out portion of the Sumro mine where a cave-in Dec. 6 admitted the waters of the Jordan River, flooding the mine.

MINE DE-WATERED

He said the company had four pumps working through the weekend and by yesterday the mine was "completely de-watered" and will remain so regardless of the flow of water in the Jordan River.

He said the concrete plug, which seals off a nine-foot-by-nine passageway, is 10 feet thick and reinforced with I-beams and is considerably more than sufficient to withstand any water pressure it will have to bear.

MACHINERY UNDAMAGED

He said that, as was anticipated, the machinery in the mine was found to be virtually undamaged after its long immersion.

Woman and Grandson
Hurt as Car Rolls

ALBERNI—A woman and her nine-year-old grandson are in West Coast General Hospital after a weekend accident on the mountain section of Highway 4, which caused $1,000 damage.

Police said a car driven by Mrs. Jessie Hamilton of Alberni was reported to have gone out of control as it rounded a left curve on the west side of the mountain. It rolled down an embankment.

Mrs. Annie Watts, Mrs. Hamilton's mother, and Eric Sayer, 9, were taken to hospital. Mrs. Watts is being treated for shoulder injuries and Eric for a fractured leg.

On the Alberni-Tofino road, a vehicle driven by Lloyd Williams of Port Alberni was reported to have stalled on a hill at Halkin Bend near Taylor River.

As the driver attempted to back down the hill, the car went over an embankment. A passenger, Mary Jane Webster, received minor injuries.

Burning Experiment

Farmers Press Battle

NANAIMO — District farmers are continuing their search to find a method of stamping out tansy ragwort, a deadly weed which can cause the death of dairy cattle.

N. F. Putnam, head of the field crop division of the provincial agriculture department, will tour the district Wednesday and watch an experiment of burning the deadly weed on a farm owned by Joseph Garner in the Estevan district.

INSPECT FARMERS It is believed Armand Callet, a farm owner on Biggs Road, will be given official permission to inspect farms in a specially-established weed control district to determine the extent of the weed's growth.

The Cedar Valley Farmers' Institute is considering giving tansy ragwort a double dose of flame and a chemical weed killer but will not take any steps until the government has been fully acquainted with the situation.

LIVES INFECTION

Dairy farmers in the Fraser Valley are also faced with the threat of the weed, which caused the death of dairy cattle by a liver infection similar to cirrhosis.

One year ago they introduced the climber moth onto grazing lands around Abbotsford in an effort to get rid of the weed.

The climber moth eats the flower head and the leaves of tansy ragwort and prevents it from producing seed. The experiment was not completely successful but will be tried again this year.

Plane Bomb Threat

'No Use Screaming'

PORT ALBERNI — "I know there was no use screaming," says Mayor Les Hammer's wife Anne. "If we were going to crash, we were going to crash."

Mrs. Hammer was talking Monday about an emergency landing Saturday night of a Canadian Pacific Airlines plane at Williams Lake because of a bomb threat.

'ENGINE TROUBLE'

The plane, with 40 people aboard, was flying to Vancouver from Whitehorse. Some time after the takeoff from Prince George, said Mrs. Hammer, passengers were informed engine trouble had developed and there would be an emergency landing.

She said the plane dropped suddenly, levelled out and dropped again to land in the dark at Williams Lake about 10 p.m. "I was scared to death," said Mrs. Hammer.

AFTER LANDING

Not until after the landing were passengers told the pilot had received a radio report alerting the crew to the possibility of a bomb being aboard. Reports said the bomb threat originated in Vancouver.

The plane was allowed to proceed after RCMP and CPA officials made a four-hour search, including the opening of mailbags at the post office, and found nothing.

BAD BUSINESS

A CPA spokesman said in Vancouver yesterday: "A few years ago the major airlines got together and hired psychologists, and decided it was bad business to publicize bomb threats."

Woman's Condition
Melts Court's Heart

NANAIMO — A 30-year-old Agassiz woman who broke her two-year probation one day before it ended was given another year of probation in magistrate's court Monday.

Mrs. Rita Brown was given a two-year suspended sentence here May 2, 1962, on seven counts of passing phony $50 and $100 U.S. bills. One of the conditions of probation was that she live in Winnipeg but, last Friday, she was arrested in Agassiz by RCMP.

Now eight months pregnant, she was given a one-year suspended sentence yesterday by Magistrate Lionel Beaver.

"It isn't usually my practice to give a person a second chance. Your condition, of course, has something to do with the light sentence imposed at the present time."

Chemainus

Inquest Wednesday
Into Fatal Fall

CHEMAINUS — An inquest will be held in the firehall at 7 p.m. Wednesday into the death of retired longshoreman Joseph Clarence Horton, 60, at the Green Lantern Hotel early Saturday.

Funeral services will be held in St. Michael and All Angels Anglican Church at 2 p.m. today.

The Chemainus native fell from the roof of a lean-to outside his hotel window into an old bathtub filled with rainwater and drowned.

Mr. Horton was active in Chemainus baseball for 25 years and served overseas with the forestry corps during the Second World War. He was a member of the longshore union and the local Legion Branch.

Survivors include three sisters, Mrs. Violet Warren of Victoria, Mrs. J. Syme of Chemainus and Mrs. Adeline Syme of Windsor, Ont.

Gymnasts

Visiting Danish gymnasts will receive the VP treatment when they arrive here Wednesday.

The two teams, 12 men and 12 girls, will meet Health Minister Martin and tour the legislative buildings at 1:30 p.m. and two hours later will have tea with Lieutenant Governor Pearkes.

Then they will return Victoria's hospitality by dividing into two groups to stage a gym clinic at the YM-YWCA for teachers and others with a professional interest, and to present a display of their skills at the DVA Hospital, that evening.

Thursday will be free for sightseeing in the afternoon and at 8 p.m. they will present an exhibition in the Memorial arena.

NANAIMO — The tax rate for 1964 was set by city council last night at 93.1 mills, an increase of 1.8 mills from last year.

Aged Man
Found Dead

NANAIMO — Lee Suey, 81, a resident of a section of the Chinese Masonic Hall set aside for aged Chinese men, was found hanged last night in a shed near the hall. He was missed about 5 p.m. and found by a search party four hours later. Police said there was no suspicion of foul play.

NANAIMO — A certificate honoring her 50-year membership in the Pythian Sisters will be presented Wednesday to Mrs. Eliza Holliday, a resident of Manor private hospital in Victoria, by friends and relatives, Mrs. Holliday, 80, lived here 50 years before moving south. Taking part in the trip will be Pythians Mrs. Gertrude Cottle, Mrs. Belle Mowat and Mrs. Margaret Clarke and four of Mrs. Holliday's daughters, Mrs. Elsie Evans and Mrs. Mary Timmins of Nanaimo, Mrs. Lily Simpson of Ladysmith and Mrs. Flo Evans of Victoria.

EDUCATION BIGGEST

Biggest single item in the budget is education, at $635,972. The mill rate is broken down as 45.1 mills for general purposes, the same as last year; 22.1 for schools, up .08; 14.9 for sewers, an increase of one-half mill, and 11 for debt purposes, also a half-mill boost.

GARBAGE RATE UP

The budget noted the increase in the city garbage rate, to $12 a year from $9, announced earlier in 1964.

It also said the waterworks surplus has been reduced, due to a large, unexplained increase in water consumption.

STUDIES STARTED

Ald. George Bryce said studies are going now to find out the cause of the increase. He indicated there might be a leak in one of the mains.

He also said the city likely will install water meters in some buildings with air-conditioning plants.

CUBA LOSES RED RADAR

Bayonets Clear Streets

SANTO DOMINGO (AP)—Troops moved with fixed bayonets into Santo Domingo's streets Monday in an attempt to crush the mounting disorder threatening the Dominican Republic's three-man civilian regime.

The government gave orders to a mixed force of 2,000 army, navy, air force and police troops "to proceed with extreme energy" after fighting between police and rioters had erupted in the city.

BURLED ROCKS

The rioters hurled rocks, with police responding with barrages of tear gas shells. But no sooner was one crowd scattered than another formed to start another demonstration.

Dockworkers walked off the job to join university students in support of a three-day strike by taxi and bus drivers. The government warned it considered the strike illegal and would impose strict measures to end it.

MAP ACTION

During the day the civilian triumvirate met with the armed forces' chiefs of staff to map action against the growing wave of anti-government disturbances.

Violence broke out in Santo Domingo's workers' quarters and a policeman shot to death a worker who attacked him with a knife. It was the first fatality reported. At least 20 persons were wounded and 150 persons arrested in rioting Sunday.

The Federation of University Students issued a communique declaring it was joining "the working class, which has taken the lead in seeking a return to constitutionality."

ASK PRESIDENT'S RETURN

The students called for the return of President Juan Bosch, who was ousted by military leaders last Sept. 25 on charges of being soft against Communists. Later, the military turned control of the government to a three-man civilian junta.

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Soviet Union has removed from Cuba a highly sophisticated new radar system that probably added to the effectiveness of Fidel Castro's anti-aircraft missiles, it was learned Monday night.

Invitation Accepted

UN Secretary-General U Thant has accepted invitation to visit Ottawa May 23 and 24, when problems in Cyprus, where Canada has 1,150 men on UN peace-keeping force, is likely to be discussed.

LBJ Pulls Ears Again

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Johnson went for those beagle ears again Monday, but all he got was a wag of the tail, no yelps.

The president was out for another of his talk-and-stroll tours of the White House south lawn with newsmen when him and her, the family beagle, bounded out to meet him. Johnson reached down and gently tugged at him's ears. He did it deliberately, he said, to show that he was not hurting the dog but merely being affectionate.

Hero Shows His Bonds

Freddy and His Girls Foil TV Set Bandits

HAMILTON (CP)—It didn't take eight-year-old Freddie Douglas and his all-girl posse long to re-establish law and order in the neighborhood. Two men invaded Freddie's home, tied him up with a skipping rope and made off with the family's television set.

Freed by a younger brother

This radar system — which qualified sources said had not been seen anywhere else but Cuba — was withdrawn about two or three months ago. It was said to have been less susceptible to jamming, capable of faster tracking, and probably was for use against low-flying planes.

Withdrawal of this system returns the efficiency of the Cuban radar — so vital to the performance of the anti-aircraft missiles — to the level of what it was at the time of the Cuban missile crisis in the fall of 1962, it was reported.

Russian anti-aircraft missiles, called SA-7s, were believed to have shot down an American high-altitude U-2 reconnaissance plane over Cuba at the height of the 1962 crisis.

REPORTS DENIED

The withdrawal of the advanced radar system by the Russians was disclosed after the U.S. defence department denied published reports that the Soviets had pulled their top-grade anti-aircraft missiles out of Cuba.

The defence department statement said the department has "no information indicating any change in the characteristics of the ground-to-air missiles installed in Cuba, despite published reports."

Amputee Agrees with Magistrate:

'No Better Than Rubbish'

VANCOUVER (CP)—Legless Carl Anderson thinks perhaps his old friend Magistrate Les Bewley was right when he said he should be picked up and put in a garbage can.

"Mr. Bewley is right," said the man who lost both legs below the knees in a plane crash near Uranium City, Sask.

"Sometimes I think I am no better than rubbish."

ONE-DAY TERM

Anderson, who walks on two rubber boots attached to the stumps of his legs, was interviewed Sunday as he sat in the sun on the steps of a skid road mission only a short time after he finished a one-day jail term for drunkenness.

BECOMING NUISANCE

Magistrate Bewley told him Saturday morning: "You are becoming a nuisance. In the past year you have had eight drunk convictions."

"You would be better off if police picked you up and put you in a garbage can."

GIVEN WARNING

The magistrate sentenced Anderson, 73, to a day and warned him that a longer term could follow the next conviction.

Magistrate Bewley said in an interview later: "Carl and I are old friends and we have spoken some truths to each other for a good number of years."

BETTER REASON

"Because of his condition Carl has a better reason than most people for getting drunk, but he has proved a nuisance to persons on the street."

He said he was saying in his court remarks that instead of continually arresting Anderson it might be better to bodily remove him "to a place where he could sober up."

GOING DOWNHILL

Anderson said he has been going downhill since he was in a crash while prospecting around Uranium City in 1953. He spent four days and nights in freezing weather before being rescued. Both legs and all his fingers were amputated because of frostbite.

"I have not been much use to anyone since then."

He described Magistrate Bewley as a "good man."

"Always he has been kind to me. He has given me chances and I have let him down. I do not wonder he is fed up with me."

"I did not mind him bringing the ash can into it. There are times I feel the same way. I know that some people don't like the things he says but it needs something like that to hit home."

Five Sailors Killed, Strayed into Minefield

WASHINGTON (AP)—Five U.S. Navy men were killed at the Guantanamo naval base in Cuba Saturday after they walked into a U.S. minefield, the navy announced Monday.

The navy said it is possible that the men, who had swimming trunks and bathing towels, may have become lost in the darkness "and strayed into the well-marked restricted area."

Canada's CF-104 Jets Pile Up Repair Costs

OTTAWA (CP)—The RCAF is having more trouble with its CF-104 low-level jet bomber in 1964.

An RCAF spokesman said the LN-3 is a "delicate system" and a reliable aid to the RCAF's ment decided to buy the CF-104 in 1959.

This time it's with the navigation system.

Associate Defence Minister Cardin informed the Commons April 8 that repairs to the LN-3 navigation system in the CF-104 will cost up to $6,000,000 in this fiscal year alone.

LARGE FRACTION

The repair costs represent a fairly large fraction of the original cost of the LN-3, manufactured by Litton Systems Inc. of California which has a subsidiary, Litton Systems (Canada) Ltd., at Rexdale, Ont.

The defence production department declined to give the original contract price for the LN-3 but the public accounts for the years 1959 to 1963 show contracts with Litton totalling about $34,000,000. The govern-

Canada Ready To Pay

Canada's Sharp

GENEVA (CP)—Trade Minister Sharp of Canada joined representatives of the other major trading nations Monday in appealing for a display of "political will" to achieve success in the Kennedy round of tariff-cutting negotiations despite current disagreement over negotiating rules.

Sharp told the formal opening of the negotiations — expected to last 18 months or more — that Canada intends to bargain actively for both agricultural and industrial concessions in export markets and is ready to "pay fully" for such benefits.

Canada is participating in the negotiations as a member of the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade.

SET STAGE

The late U.S. president John Kennedy set the stage for the round by pushing through the United States Congress the Trade Expansion Act of 1960 which gave him the right to cut U.S. tariffs by as much as 50 per cent in exchange for reciprocal concessions.

WILL SEEK CHANGE

In closed ministerial sessions today, Canada was expected to press forcibly for an end to the European Common Market's reluctance to reduce its agricultural protectionism.

Sources said Canada, while not blind to the political and social difficulties of such a step

Wait Till Fall New Banks Told

VANCOUVER (CP)—Finance Minister Gordon indicated Monday that three proposed banks must wait until fall for their federal charters.

He said in an interview that the government hopes to amend the Bank Act in the fall after studying the recently-released report of the Royal Commission on Banking.

"It is not very likely new charters will be granted before the act is revised."

Charter applications have been made by the proposed banks of Western Canada, British Columbia and Laurentide.

"Last time I talked to Premier Bennett about the bank he said there was so much enthusiasm and support for it in B.C. that it could easily be financed even if the government didn't put any money into it."

The recent session of the legislature passed a bill that permits the government to purchase up to 25 per cent of the capital of the proposed bank.

Ship Hits Barge Near Mobile

MOBILE, Ala. (UPI)—The U.S. Coast Guard said a motor-powered vessel, the Prospector, and a gasoline barge collided in Mobile Harbor early today and burst into flames. The coast guard at Mobile reported it was sending rescue craft to the scene near the mouth of the Mobile River.

B.C. will brook no stalling in its bid to get a federal charter for the proposed Bank of British Columbia, Premier Bennett indicated yesterday.

Told that federal Finance Minister Walter Gordon had said earlier in the day in Vancouver that it could be fall before a private bill seeking a bank charter would go before the House of Commons, the premier said, "that would disappoint me greatly."

"There is no real reason for any postponement," he told reporters.

He said the Bank of B.C. could be chartered soon and conform to the Bank Act as it now reads. When changes in the act are enacted the bank would conform with those.

WITH DISFAVOR

"Any postponement would be looked on with disfavor by the people of British Columbia," he added.

B.C.'s economy would be stimulated by early approval of the bank bill.

The premier also denied he had told Mr. Gordon earlier that investor interest in the bank was so high B.C. might not have to become a shareholder.

SHARE CAPITAL

He said he told the federal finance minister that the degree of investor interest was such that B.C. might not have to put up more than five or 10 per cent of the initial share capital.
